Grant for city park extended

Sikeston has received a one- year extension on a $155,945 federal grant which is helping finance construction of the new recreational complex, Acting City Manager Bill Whitlock said today.

The city had been forced to ask for an extension of the grant when bad weather delayed construction work on the project beyond the Dec. 31, 1973 deadline.

The extension was ordered by the Missouri Inter- Agency Council for Outdoor Recreation, which channeled the grant from the federal government to the city. The grant will pay one-half of the project's cost.

The extension will mean funds for the 140- acre project will be available until Dec. 31, 1974. Under the original grant, the availability of funds ran out at the end of 1973.

The amount of the grant was adjusted downward to reflect the lower cost of the project following deletion of plans for a par- three golf course. The project cost was decreased from $390,500 to $311,890. The federal government's share of the project dropped from $195,250 to $155,945. The $78,000 drop in the cost of the project was caused entirely by the deletion of the golf course.

The complex will include baseball diamonds, tennis courts, a fishing lake and picnic facilities.

Most construction materials are on hand and the city only needs good weather to complete the project, according to Whitlock.

A real hatchet job

Nixon will reject order to testify

WASHINGTON A(P) — President Nixon will reject a California state court order that he testify in person at the trial of former aides indicted for the break-in at the office of Daniel Ellsberg's psychiatrist, the White House said today.

Deputy Press Secretary Gerald L. Warren said White House attorneys "will recommend to the President that he respectfully decline to appear ... on constitution grounds." Warren made clear that Nixon would heed that advice.

But Warren left open the possibility that Nixon might respond to written questions.

"If other requests are put to the White House, they will be dealt with as they arise," he said in answer to a reporter's question.

John D. Ehrlichman and two other former White House aides are seeking Nixon's testimony to support their contention that they were acting as federal officers when the break-in occurred in 1971.

Ehrlichman is charged with burglary, conspiracy and perjury in connection with the break-in.

David Young and G. Gordon Liddy, both former White House aides, are charged with burglary and conspiracy.

Superior Court Judge Gordon Ringer of Los Angeles Tuesday said he will approve a certificate "demanding President Richard M. Nixon to testify Feb. 25, 1974, and April 15, 1974."

The certificate in effect is an out-of-state subpoena, and must be issued formally by a superior court judge where the recipient resides, in this case the District of Columbia.

Nixon's refusal to testify in person could touch off a legal battle.

But indications were that moves were under way to reach a compromise, perhaps with the President answering written interrogatories submitted to him on key issues at stake in the proceeding.

Warren said Ehrlichman's attorneys had discussed the subject of written questions with Nixon's chief Watergate lawyer James D. St. Clair "but not in any specific way."

Ringer, who said this would be the first time a President has been subpoenaed by a state court, said he will sign the subpoena by Friday. The subpoena commands Nixon to appear at a pretrial hearing Feb. 25. and at the trial April 15.

The judge ruled earlier Tuesday that Nixon is a material witness to the defense case of Ehrlichman and two other former White House employes, G. Gordon Liddy and David R. Young Jr. All three are charged with burglary and conspiracy. Ehrlichman is also charged with perjury.

The White House formally declined comment on the ruling until it receives the judge's order, but sources later indicated the President would decline to appear personally as a witness.

Ehrlichman attorney Douglas Dalton immediately prepared the three-page subpoena. But Dalton said Ringer decided to study the subpoena's legal phraseology before signing.

Robert Mitchell given DSA Award, 3 others honored

Robert L. Mitchell Jr. received the Distinguished Service Award and James E. Moore III was named Boss of the Year Tuesday night at the annual Jaycee Distinguished Service Award banquet at Sikeston Country Club.

The Outstanding Young Educator Award was presented to Mrs. Nickie Taylor, 706 Pine St., a teacher at Southeast Elementary School, and Dan William Hinton, 222 Harry St., was honored as Outstanding Young Law Enforcement Officer.

The Distinguished Service Award is the highest honor given by the Jaycees and is given to a man between 21 and 35 years old for meritorious service to his family, community and country.

Mitchell, vice president of Mitchell Insurance Inc., 811 N. Main St., graduated from Sikeston High School in 1965 and in January from Southeast Missouri State University at Cape Girardeau where he majored in marketing management.

A member of the Scott County Young Democrats Club, Mitchell has served the organization as president and vice president and also is a past secretary of the Jaycees.

A second lieutenant in the Missouri Army National Guard, Mitchell also served as chairman of the United Fund drive in 1972 and is a member of the Athletic Advisory Committee of the Sikeston R-6 School District, Bootheel Regional Planning Commission recreation committee, Sikeston Association of Independent Insurance Agents, SeMo Association of Independent Insurance Agents, Missouri Association of Independent Insurance Agents and Planning and Zoning Comission advisory committee.

In 1972 he was named to Outstanding Young Men of America.

He is a member of the Peoples- Home Life Insurance Co. President's Club and Travelers Insurance Co. Regional Leaders Club, was chosen "Best- All-Around Insurance Man" by the class in the Travelers Insurance Co. School for Multi- Line Agents and was presented a certificate of merit by Travelers Insurance Co. for successfully completing the career life agent course.

He authored an article for the November 1973 issue of "Rough Notes Magazine," a national trade journal and is author of an article to be published in the April issue of "Protection" the Travelers firm's monthly magazine.

Mitchell is a member of the administrative board of the First United Methodist Church, a Sunday School teacher and coach of the Church League basketball team and is a neighborhood commissioner of the Boy Scouts which he served as Southeast Missouri sustaining membership vice chairman last year.

Mitchell, his wife Kathleen and daughter Elizabeth live at 904 Crescent Drive.

Moore, the Boss of the Year honoree, is prosecuting attorney of Scott County.

The award is given annually to the Jaycee boss who contributes the most help to Jaycee projects by allowing his employes time to work on such projects.

President will address nation on state of union

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon addresses Congress and the nation tonight on the State of the Union, and quite possibly on the Watergate crisis.

White House officials would not say flatly in advance of Nixon's 9 p.m. EDT appearance at a joint session of Congress whether Watergate- related matters would be touched upon.

However, Deputy Press Secretary Gerald L. Warren said Tuesday Nixon would discuss all issues important to the American people. And departing aide Melvin R. Laird, asked at a news conference whether Nixon could fail to talk about what the questioner termed a crisis of confidence, replied:

"I think you'll be very pleased with the content of the message."

The White House said Nixon returned to Washington by car after dark Tuesday from a five- day stay at Camp David, Md., where he reportedly spent much of his time on the State of the Union address to be broadcast live by major television- radio networks.

Senate Democratic Whip Robert C. Byrd of West Virginia said Tuesday in an interview filmed for use by public television stations that he thought Nixon could help himself by "dealing with the state of the President."

Nixon was sending Congress a lengthy, written State of the Union message in addition to his speech to Senate and House members.

Most of the President's legislative proposals represent altered versions of ones advanced in earlier years.

Perhaps his major 1974 legislative initiative is a much- revised national health insurance plan.

To be financed largely through employer- employe contributions, it would insure all Americans of basic minimum coverage as well as protection against catastrophic illnesses. It also would absorb the present Medicaid program.

The three commercial television- radio networks have promised Democrats an hour of free air time at 10 p.m. EDT Friday to respond to Nixon's address. Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana will speak for about 15 minutes, then field questions from a panel of newsmen.

Burglars open safe

About $100 was taken sometime Tuesday night or early today from a walk- in safe at Sikeston Lumber Co., 311 E. Malone Ave.

The burglars apparently opened the safe by prying off the door with a hatchet and pry bar after entering the building through a back window, police said.

Police said they are looking for a light green car which was seen parked near the lumber company about 6 a.m. today. At least two men are believed to have been involved.

The burglary was discovered by an employe shortly after 6 a.m. today.

Backfisch gets DSA Award

DEXTER — Dennis Backfisch, 210 E. Carter St., received the Jaycee Distinguished Service Award at the annual Dexter Jaycee awards banquet Tuesday night at the Hickory Log Restaurant.

Robert Garner, Route Three, was named Boss of the Year Award winner, and Mrs. Thurston Hill was awarded the Youth Leadership Award.

Guest speaker for the event was Stoddard County Sheriff Ralph Mouser.

Backfisch, 26, a surveyor for the Missouri State Highway Department, has been a member of the Dexter Jaycees for three years. He is also a member of the civil defense team and the auxiliary police.

Garner, owner of Busy Bee Lumber Co. on One Mile Road, was nominated by R. J. Riddle, an employe. Garner was cited for assisting the Jaycees in the Haunted House project last fall and during the Dexter centennial celebration.

Mrs. Hill, 422 Chatauqua Lane, is the wife of the supreintendent of schools in Dexter and has been active in Girl Scout leadership work for many years.

Correction

It was incorrectly reported in Tuesday's Daily Standard that Harold Pace of Sikeston Route One is manager of the Running Horse Cafe at Morehouse.

Pace said his daughter owns the cafe, but he is not connected with it.

A bomb placed on the running board of Pace's pickup truck exploded about 8 p.m. Sunday while the truck was parked in front of the cafe. The explosion caused minor damage to the truck.

City says Red Ball is misused

Fire Chief Larry Linnemeyer and Acting City Manager Bill Whitlock have expressed concern over the future and effectiveness of Operation Red Ball because the stickers are being misused.

The program was started in October 1973 by the fire department for the purpose of aiding firemen in saving lives by letting firemen know of the presence and location of helpless persons.

The Red Ball stickers are supposed to be placed on the window of rooms where children or invalids sleep. However, the stickers are being put up everywhere, Linnemeyer said.

He said the stickers are being put on doors and non-bedroom windows.

"Please use these stickers for their intended purpose

Man robbed on I-55

MARSTON — A Holcomb man was robbed of $55 early today when he stopped to check the tires on his tractor- trailer truck on Interstate 55 near here.

Mickie Lee Brown, 25, a driver for Frisbee Cotton Co. of rural Holcomb, said that when he stopped about 1:55 a.m. on the interstate, a white compact car with four persons inside also stopped.

Two men got out and asked if he needed help and the other two persons believed to be women — remained in the car. One of the men had his hand in his pocket and said, "I have a gun," and demanded Brown's money. Brown gave him his billfold containing the $55, his driver's license and other personal papers. The men got back into the car and headed south on Interstate 55.

The men were described as being from 25 to 30 years old, wearing wide- brimmed hats and black leather coats. One man was about 6 feet tall, weighed about 220 pounds and had shoulder- length hair. The other man was 5 feet, 7 inches tall and weighed 150 pounds.

E BOND BUYERS,
BEWARE

The annual drive is on again to persuade people to buy E bonds. Stridently pitched radio commercials extol their virtues. Government workers find their arms twisted in various subtle and not so subtle ways if they show any resistance to their "patriotic" duty.

It may, in fact, be patriotic to help bail the government out of its self- inflicted fiscal difficulties. But no one should be under the delusion that he is making a wise investment when he buys an E bond.

The current interest rate on Government E bonds is 6 per cent. But inflation has now accelerated to more than 8 per cent. Moreover, the E bond purchaser draws no interest at all if he cashes in his bond within six months. On the first year he gets only 4-1/2 per cent, and he gets his full 6 per cent only if he holds the bond the full five years to maturity. And let us not forget that when the purchaser of an E bond eventually cashes it in he must pay an income tax on his "profit." The saver will almost certainly have less purchasing power with the money he draws out of the E bond than he has with the money he originally put into it.

This is why financially "savvy" people do not buy E bonds. The rich and sophisticated know how to protect themselves against the ravages of inflation. The financially uneducated, as a rule, do not.

For example, even a very small saver, if he is at all wise in money matters, knows that he can get a minimum of 6 per cent interest today in a Savings and Loan bank and that the interest will accrue immediately with no penalty for an early withdrawal. If he is willing to commit himself for a longer period he can get correspondingly higher rates. Larger investors in today's markets can easily draw 8 per cent or more interest in various types of commercial paper.

Savers, including holders of E bonds and life insurance policies, are among those who pay the price of the continuous inflation which ravages our country and indeed the whole world. Removal of the gold reserve requirement for Federal Reserve notes (our paper money) in March 1968 removed the last barriers to continuous inflation of the nation's purchasing media. As long as a substantial gold reserve was required by law, the money- credit managers were under some restraint. Now there is none. We have fiat money pure and simple, with nothing of any value to support it. That is why the price of gold — that most basic of all standards of value — continues to soar in price. It is a barometer of the ever falling value of paper money.

E bond buyers, beware!

The male wrasse normally cruises the Great Barrier Reef with a harem of three to six females. When he dies, the most aggressive female in the harem undergoes behavioral and physiological changes that result in her transformation into a male. The zoologist who studied these fish concluded that when a female wrasse finds herself not dominated, she takes on a more aggressive behavior pattern within hours. In less than two weeks, her ovaries have turned into testicles and — in looks, action and bodily equipment — she is indistinguishable from a male. Hmm.

CONTINUED INTEREST
FROM A SENATOR

Missouri's junior U. S. Senator, Thomas F. Eagleton, was in the Bootheel last week, holding two regional press conferences, attending citizen receptions and speaking to civic groups. What the Senator had to say on the nation's important issues, from the energy crisis to Watergate, has by now appeared in virtually every newspaper in Southeast Missouri and has been aired over most of the area's radio stations.

We would like to note, for the record, at least something about the Eagleton record that may have gone unnoticed by many Southeast Missourians. The reference is to Senator Eagleton's deep interest in and his acquaintanceship with the Bootheel and its citizens.

Seldom has any state official on the state level, much less one concerned with the affairs of the national legislature, demonstrated a more abiding and lasting interest in the welfare of this area than this state's junior U. S. Senator.

Perhaps Eagleton's fondness for the Bootheel started when he made his first campaign for a state-wide office back in 1960. Then he was a candidate for the Democratic nomination for Attorney General, and while his initial vote didn't exactly make the record books, the candidate caught a glimpse of the area that has not been forgotten. Through his terms as Attorney General and then Lt. Governor, Eagleton continued his interest in this area and assisted on a variety of projects from his Jefferson City office that benefited the Missouri Delta.

Eagleton's affinity for the Bootheel has been reciprocated by the voters of this area in every election since 1960. During his most important election campaign — which saw him receive the Democratic nomination for Senator against two very tough opponents — Eagleton learned first- hand just how supportive the Bootheel could be. Thanks to the majorities he received in this area, in virtually every county in Southeast Missouri, he won the Democratic nomination for Senator in 1968 and went on to win handily in the general election.

Eagleton has never forgotten that Bootheel margin, and while many politicians would have been content to tuck the Bootheel under their hip pocket and forget it, Senator Eagleton has not. During his first year in the U. S. Senate, Eagleton made more trips to the Bootheel than any section of the state, save his hometown of St. Louis. He has regularly visited this area, listening to the views and opinions of thousands of Southeast Missourians.He has said repeatedly he values the counsel he receives in this area; moreover, he responds in a positive way to that counsel.

Senator Eagleton does not belong exclusively to the Bootheel, any more than he belongs exclusively to St. Louis. In the first place, Southeast Missouri has a warm spot in its political heart for the Senior U. S. Senator from Missouri, Stuart Symington. Secondly, Senator Eagleton has extremely divergent views of all Missourians; his voting record in recent years indicates how effectively he has done just that.

We commend the Senator for his continuing interest in this area and its citizens. It would have been far easier to relegate the Bootheel to the "safely Democratic" column. That he has chosen not to forget this area means much to all Southeast Missourians.

PUBLIC EMPLOYEES
DESERVE BETTER

An unusually busy 1974 is on tap across the nation, with 46 state legislatures scheduled to meet in regular or special sessions and state constitutional conventions convening in Louisiana, Texas, and New Hampshire. The only states where legislative sessions are not currently scheduled this year are Alabama, Nevada, North Dakota and Texas.

It's a foregone conclusion that union officials will be extremely active in the state capitals, attempting to: 1) Undermine existing Right to Work guarantees, and 2) Finagle passage of repressive new laws authorizing complulsory unionsim in the public sector.

Unmistakable signs indicate that legislators in dozens of states will be confronted by union- sponsored bills that would permit or mandate the forced unionization of public employees. Authority to extort "dues" and "fees" from additional state, county and municipal employees is the number one goal of union lobbyists everywhere — and they are hungry for the additional revenues it would add to their political kitties.

Already, twelve states — Alaska, Hawaii, Kentucky, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, Montana, Oregon, Rhode Island, Vermont, Washington, and Wisconsin — have legalized the forced unionization of some or all public employees within their borders. Seven of these objectionable laws were enacted only last year (and the adoption of 18 similar bills was forestalled only by the vigorous opposition of Right to Work supporters).

There is a large influential body of opinion in this country which holds that compulsory unionism in government is unconstitutional ... that it is illegal, and certainly immoral, to force any tax-payer to involuntarily pay money to a private organization in order to hold down a job with the government he supports. But the injustice doesn't end there. Compulsory unionism in government also has a long and sorry history of being a breeding ground for political favoritism, special interest palm- greasing, discrimination, and corruption. This has been the case time and time again.

A former assistant general counsel of the United Auto Workers union, Cornell Professor Kurt L. Hanslowe, stated the case against compulsory unionism in government about as well as anyone. "... the union shop in government about as well as potential of becoming a neat mutual back-scratching mechanism," he wrote, "whereby public employee representatives and politicians each reinforce the others' interest and domain, with the individual public employee and the individual citizen left to look on, while his employment conditions and his tax rate and public policies generally are being decided by entrenched and mutually supportive government officials and collective bargaining representatives over whom the public has diminishing control."

We feel the public and the government employees who serve them deserve better.

MANAGEMENT URGES
LABOR TO BACK
PRODUCTIVE EFFORT

A challenge to organized labor to join with management in support of national policies that will make America more productive and more competitive in world markets was issued by National Association of Manufacturers President E. Douglas Kenna.

Addressing the annual banquet meeting of the International Association of Governmental Labor Officials in Louisville, Ky. Mr. Kenna emphasized the need for labor to join with management in support of federal financial policies that will encourage capital formation and the reinvestment of capital to provide new jobs and more efficient production of goods and services.

Criticizing opposition to the seven per cent depreciation allowance on new machinery by some labor leaders, the NAM president pointed out that some of our chief competitors for world markets have an even higher degree of incentive provided by their governments. The depreciation allowance in West Germany is 17 per cent. In France and Japan manufacturers are permitted to deduct a full one-third of the cost of new machinery in the first year, he said.

Labor also was urged by Mr. Kenna to join in a united front in making American industry more productive and competitive and in urging U. S. trade negotiators to press more vigorously for the tearing down of tariffs, quotas, rigged specifications, and other hindrances to American business in foreign markets.

In citing areas where labor and management can cooperate for the good of the nation, Mr. Kenna conceded that many differences will continue, but said "such issues as minimum wage levels, compulsory unionism, fairness in collective bargaining and welfare benefits for strikers can be fought out without preventing cooperation on other issues so we can compete and survive in world markets."

Mr. Kenna also cited problem areas in which labor could join management to their mutual benefit including cooperation to urge government to adopt a realistic energy policy; to balance the need for environmental protection with the need to protect our economy; to raise working condition throughout the world and increase productivity at home; to support patent policies that encourage the rapid dissemination and application of the fruits of research and development and to develop a common interest in anti-trust policies that prevent restraint of trade, but permit the kind of cooperation between business and labor that will lead to a united front in world markets.

SKIP THE FRILLS!

As the U. S. Congressional Record celebrates its 101st birthday in March, 1974, it seems appropriate to consider the cost of this publication to the taxpayer. Parade magazine reports that publication costs for the Record are staggering. With only 4,000 paying subscribers and an annual printing bill of $7 million, the Congressional Record makes available the daily happenings, speeches, roll-call votes and favorite press articles of our Congressmen. To break it down further, expenses for printing each page come to a stunning $163. At an average of 300 pages per daily issue, that adds up to too much money in any language.

The momumental waste incurred in this endeavor is uncalled for. The Congressional Record as it stands is a typical example of bureaucratic extravagance, and many costly pages could be phased out if Congressmen would refrain from reading in their favorite recipes and anecdotes. Let's return the Record to its proper form: a faithful reproduction of Congressional proceedings -- period. The frills we will glady do without.

Zero risk in anything has never been achieved; not in flying a kite, taking a bath, or eating a hot dog. No doubt there is danger in the use of any pesticide, but there may be a larger risk in not using them, too.

In a talk before the American Medical Association, Dr. William J. Darby, president of the Nutrition Foundation discussed the line between acceptable risk and the demand for safety.

"Unwise regulatory or legislative constraints that prevent the application of scientific knowledge to increase food production and prevention of spoilage can have disastrous world consequences," he said. "We must discriminate emotion from logic, bias from objectivity, self-seekers from public- spirited persons.

He also pointed out some of the broader food production issues often ignored by those who would eliminate pesticides and food additives entirely: The major masses of population in Southeast Asia, Africa and South America are increasing faster than their food production.

In those regions, ineffective pest control and wasteful methods of harvesting are among the reasons for low yields and losses of up to 50 per cent of the harvest. (In contrast, losses are only four to five per cent in the U. S.) Because of poor nutrition and insufficient food, pellegra, kwashiorkor, anemia, starvation and goiter flourish.

Another noted scientist, Dr. R. L. Preston of the Ohio Agricultural Research and Development Center, says, "It's a paradox that at a time when food costs are soaring, additives have become the target of environmental 'purists.' Doing away with various additives in livestock production would mean increased death loss or morbidity in livestock. It would reduce total production, and increase the cost of food derived from that livestock."

SOLUTION TO LITTER
MAY GIVE ANSWERS TO BASIC PROBLEMS

"If we can solve the human behavioral problem of littering, we may be able to find answers to many other social issues," Roger W. Powers, executive vice president of Keep American Beautiful, Inc., told delegates from 25 countries attending the recent Keep Europe Beautiful conference in Stockholm.

"More than a symbol of environmental ignorance, littering is a symptom of a far greater malady affecting all nations," Mr. Powers stated. "Littering is a problem that shows a person's indifference, lack of respect and even insecurity."

"How can the world hope to solve its many other environmental problems if it cannot solve a universal problem like littering?" he asked.

Littering is the result of an attitude and must be dealt with in humanistic terms so that each person is given a sense of individual responsibility, he explained.

DANGEROUS TREND

Newspaper reporters and columnists find themselves in a constant battle to keep open and available the public record, which is, after all, the public's business. We base our fight for legitimate public records on the right of the people to know and the First Amendment to the U.S. Constitution. It was alarming, therefore, when we read recently an opinion of the attorney general of the State of Texas, Mr. John Hill, that police department complaint sheets were not in the public domain and not matters for scrutiny of the press. A debate on the decision quickly ensued and the attorney general called for a review of the matter in concert with editors and lawyers.

Whatever the final decision, it is shocking to hear a high public official say that these complaints should not be laid on the line to the press. Generally, the complaint sheets are offense reports, "beefs" as the reporters refer to them. They deal with a criminal offense against humans and property. Confidential investigative information of an officer normally is written as a supplement to the original report and this is not -- and should not be -- available to a reporter unless the officer has reasons to release its contents. To this arrangement the press agrees.

Texas is not the only state with media- officialdom problems. Legislators in other areas are attempting through new statutes to correct the abuses of officials who would deny legitimate information to the public. The press is urged by this columnist to live up to its highest ideals of keeping confidential that information which would hurt police investigations. We feel that as a general rule this is done. When the men and women of good will of both sides talk over the problems that affect their coverage of the news and responsibilities of officialdom, the issues will clear to the satisfaction of all. Everyone Looks Up To Wilfred: But Who Takes a Flagpole Sitter Seriously.?

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Remarks a flagpole sitter gets tired of hearing:

"It's a message from your wife. She says to put up your umbrella — it's raining."

"How did you train yourself for this kind of a career, sir? Did you work for the government?"

"Do the pigeons give you much trouble up there, Wilfred?"

"How much suntan lotion would you say you use in a year? Enough to cover Coney Island?"

"No, that isn't a crowd of Wilfred's fans waiting around the bottom of the building for him to come down. They are just a few of his bill collectors."

"Your wife says that since you are on a diet and not getting much exercise up there, she's only sending you up a piece of lettuce and a pat of pot cheese for lunch."

"I'm afraid you were born a generation too late for this line of work, Wilfred. People today are too lazy to bend their neck to look at a guy on a flagpole he himself is stuck out on a private flagpole of his own anyway."

"Your wife says to tell you she can't come and wave you on today, Wilfred. She's playing bridge with some friends."

"Bad news, Wilfred. We hear the World Trade Center is up to some dirty pool. We've been told they're planning to send a pretty young blonde twin up on each of the flagpoles on their two towers — one dressed topless, the other bottomless. Can you think of a quick gimmick to beat that, Wilfred? "

"You must have your dates mixed, Wilfred. According to our figures, you still have a week, six days, four hours and 29 minutes to go before setting a record. Just don't think about it — and the time will go faster."

"Your wife says she is planning your summer vacation and wants to know if you'd like to go mountain climbing for a change."

"It's from your wife, Wilfred. She says the messages you've been sending are so full of complaints she suggests that the first thing you do when you climb down from that flagpole is to go and climb a

JACK ANDERSON SAYS:
Food Shortage Possible

WASHINGTON-- The oil shortage could be compounded this year by a food shortage, because food stocks have dropped to the lowest level in 20 years.

All it would take would be minor crop failures or transportation tie- ups to cause basic foods to start disappearing from the supermarket shelves.

Agriculture Department sources have told us the nation would be in "awful shape" for food if the delicate food delivery system should be fouled up.

The supplies of corn, potatoes, peas, dried beans, canned peaches, pears and cherries have hit bottom. Cheese and butter supplies are low.

To strengthen the dollar abroad, the government has been exporting grains as fast as the farmers can grow them. Grain stocks are now so low that legislation has been introduced in the Senate to establish a national reserve system.

The meat outlook isn't much better. "A two week tie- up in the transportation system could cause serious meat shortages," an Agriculture Department expert told us. "The meat delivery system has only about a four- to- five day flexibility. After that, the shelves would start looking bare."

The few temporary shortages of 1973 have made the consumers wary. Many of them, apparently, have been stocking their pantries with canned goods. A surge in the demand for canned goods has exacerbated the tight supply situation.

not uncommon. A few weeks ago, chain stores had to rely on their own reserves for a few days because of transportation problems. A more troublesome tie- up could cause serious shortages.

What is needed, the experts say, is a national system of food delivery planning. None now exists, leaving the populace at the mercy of the fluctuating marketplace.

FOOTNOTE: There is even a shortage of raisins, because wine makers are buying up the grapes to keep up with the growing demand for distilled spirits.

NIXON'S WHIPPING BOY: Speaker Carl Albert has warned his Democratic colleagues behind closed doors that President Nixon will use Congress as a "whipping boy."

Albert's warning came after House Majority Leader "Tip" O'Neill, D- Mass., finished reciting the issues confronting Congress. He neglected to mention impeachment, which brought Rep. Jerry Waldie, D-Calif., to his feet. Impeachment was "very important," protested Waldie.

Later, the Speaker told about his association with Nixon since they came to Congress together in 1947. Albert said the President "always needed a whipping boy." As a member of Congress, Nixon always blamed the President, recalled Albert. Now, said the Speaker, the president will try to blame Congress for everything that goes wrong.

The bantamweight from Oklahoma received a standing ovation.

STRANGE LOAN: The man appointed by West Virginia's Gov. Arch Moore to stave off the collapse of a $65 $26,000 personal interest in the failing firm. He is State Banking Commissioner George Jordan, who borrowed $26,000 from the Diversified Mountaineer Corp. in 1972.

While other borrowers were paying soaring interest rates, the lucky banking commissioner, who was supervising banks with intimate ties with Diversified, got a bargain six per cent loan.

Jordan confirmed to us that he had borrowed the money from a special loan portfolio kept by Diversified. He said there were rumors other West Virginia officials also had Diversified loans. But he firmly denied any conflict of interest.

Governor Moore, who appointed Jordan, has praised his excellence and expertise as a banking commissioner. Despite Moore's trust in Jordan, federal Securities and Exchange Commission sleuths have been poking around in Diversified's files. The federal men hope to save the assets of its 25,000 depositors and investors, many of them poor coal miners.

BURR'S BOURBON: It was with a song and stein that the late Rep. Burr Harrison, D-Va., wanted to be remembered. So he provided money from his estate to ensure that the mourning would be minimal.

After his recent passing, his executor found a handwritten note. It requested that the traditional Bar Association memorial service be suspended and that his estate provide bourbon for the "next evening debauchery of the gentlemen of the Bar."

FOOTNOTE: Harrison also asked doctors to use his body for any medical experiment "which in the future they think might reduce their many

3 charged in armed robbery bound over to Circuit Court

BLOOMFIELD-- Robert Ross, 23, and Calvin Ross, 23, of St. Louis and Charles Williams, 31, of New Madrid were bound over to Circuit Court Tuesday following a preliminary hearing before Magistrate Koss W. Blomeyer.

The three men are accused of the Dec. 4 armed robbery of Johnson's Grocery and Package Liquor Store located at Routes Y and DD six miles west of Vanduser.

They are also charged with the felonious assault of store operator Sandra Kaye Midkiff, 23, and with assaulting and shooting a customer, Norris Pullen Jr., 31, of Bell City Route One.

Mrs. Midkiff testified that the three men entered the store about 2 p.m. Dec. 4 and identified Charles Williams as the man who asked her for some lunch meat. After telling him she did not sell lunch meat, she said Calvin Ross, whom she identified earlier, came around the counter with a gun in his hand and Williams told her to place her hands on the counter. Williams slapped her, she stated, and the two taped her mouth and eyes and tied her hands and feet and forced her to lie on the floor. They then struck her several times with what seemed to be whisky bottles.

While on the floor, Mrs. Midkiff said she heard the door open and someone came in. She then said she heard Williams say, "Shoot him" and she heard a shot fired.

Pullen testified that he arrived at the store at 2:10 p.m. and stopped to look at a car parked in front of the store, thinking it might belong to a friend who had been planning to buy a similar car. He noted the car had a missing front fender and a dent in the other fender.

Upon entering the store, Pullen said he was struck above the left eye and was knocked unconscious. When he regained consciousness, he said he was in the living quarters of the store with his feet and hands tied and a mattress covering him. After he managed to work his hands and feet free, he discovered he had been shot in the right leg.

He went into the store and discovered Mrs. Midkiff behind the counter and went for help.

Mrs. Midkiff said approximately $100 was taken from the cash register and another $200 was taken from her purse on the kitchen table in the living quarters.

Judge Blomeyer set bond at $5,000 each.

The three are to appear in Circuit Court Feb. 6 for formal arraignment.

First Pitch

The earliest reference to the use of pitch for waterproofing is in the Bible. The Good Book says Noah used pitch, a natural form of asphalt, to seal the seams of the ark before the deluge covered the earth.

'Been There' has rules for artificial insemination hopefuls

Dear Ann Landers: This is to the woman who signed herself "Unlucky Lady" because her husband is sterile and she is considering artificial insemination. My husband is also sterile and both of our beautiful little sons were conceived by artificial insemination. I would like to give her some advice and relieve her of her doubts if I can.

1. Don't worry about the baby not looking like either of you. After all, you will be the baby's biological mother. Also, your doctor will pick a donor who looks as much like your husband as possible. If your husband is a short, stocky Italian, your doctor will not choose a donor who is a tall, blond Norwegian.

2. Don't worry about the donor not being intelligent. Your doctor will not go through the phone book picking names at random. He will more than likely choose a medical student, so the baby's biological father will have the brains to get through college and into graduate school.

3. Don't worry about strange diseases cropping up in your baby. My doctor told me all of his donors were married medical students who had fathered at least two normal, healthy children. Your doctor, I'm sure, will choose your donor just as carefully.

4. Take Ann Landers's advice; resist the urge to confide in ANYONE.

The rewards are tremendsous. You will have a normal, happy pregnancy. Your husband will be the father of your baby. His name will be on your baby's birth certificate. He will be as much your baby's father as you will be his mother. Forget everything else, and good luck to both of you. I hope you won't have a long wait for the little one you both must want so much. Just sign me-- Been There

Dear B. T.: Thanks for a day- brightener. Your letter will mean a great deal to a great many.

Dear Ann Landers: I'd like to say a word to that big mouth who signed himself, "Irked in Springfield."

I work in a grocery store and make the magnificent sum of $1.65 an hour. I work Christmas, Easter, Thanksgiving and New Year's Day. Lovely, isn't it? As for his gripe that most cashiers aren't very polite, let me tell you that more than half of the customers are miserable. As a matter of fact, most people are rotten to the core.

How can a cashier be polite when a guy comes in loaded, throws a case of bottled beer on your cash register and breaks the case? Then you have to smell the stuff all night.

Today two guys gave me fives and insisted they were twenties. That trick is so old you'd think they'd be ashamed to pull it, but I get at least four of those creeps a week.

I live for the day when everything will be automatic and salespeople with be obsolete. You'll put your money in a machine and out will come the merchandise. Wouldn't that be great?--Down-With Humanity

Dear Down: If ever a person was poorly suited to his job, you are. For the sake of the store and the customers, as well as your own, you should get into another line of work--like maybe ice fishing in Alaska.

Confidential To Can't Stand Your Double- Domed Bull- Headedness: I hate to lose a reader but I think you ought to skip my column and go right to the comics. There's nothing here for you.

Even if drinking is the "in" thing in your crowd, it needn't crowd you out. Learn the facts from Ann Landers's booklet, "Booze and You- For Teen-Agers Only." Send 35c in coin and a long, self- addressed, stamped envelope to Ann Landers, P. O. Box 3346, Chicago, Illinois 60654.

Miss Petigo bride of Davey McDowell

Mr. and Mrs. Davey McDowell

ESSEX — Apostolic Church of Essex was the scene Jan. 20 for the wedding of Miss Debbie Jean Petigo, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Petigo of Vanduser, and Davey McDowell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Coy McDowell of Sikeston. The Rev. John Tucker officiated at the 1 p.m. double- ring ceremony.

Miss Carolyn Morgan of Essex was pianist and played the traditional march.

The bride was escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her father. She wore a floor- length white satin gown with chapel-length train of satin fastened at the back waistline with a large satin bow. The gown had a rounded neckline. The bodice was adorned with silk organza lace and seed pearls. The dress was designed with an empire waistline and three- quarter length sleeves.

The bride's elbow- length veil of silk illusion was secured by a crown of seed pearls and silk organza lace. She carried a bouquet of large white mums trimmed with blue baby's breath secured on a blue silk lace handkerchief with blue streamers.

Maid of honor was Miss Patricia Petigo of Vanduser, sister of the bride. She wore a white silk and lace dress with sheer puffed sleeves and fitted cuffs of royal blue velvet. A band of the velvet also formed the waistline and neckline of the dress. She carried a bouquet of white and blue violets secured with royal blue velvet streamers.

The groom wore a royal blue suit with medium blue shirt and white tie.

Best man was his brother, Barry McDowell of Sikeston. He wore a royal blue coat and medium blue shirt with a royal blue tie.

The mother of the bride chose a street- length A-line, long- sleeved dress of medium and light blue with white accessories. The groom's mother wore a street- length dress of royal blue velvet with long butterfly sleeves. The neckline and sleeves were trimmed in silver and she wore silver accessories.

A reception dinner was held at the Essex school cafeteria. Tables were covered with white table clothes with silver wedding bells and napkins to match.

The large three- tiered cake, which centered the table, was trimmed in blue. It was flanked on either side with two large punch bowls filled with green and red punch.

Aretta Tucker, Wanda Morgan, Faye Autrey, Carrie Denton, Juanita Barber, Mrs. Tom Pullum and Ruby Malloy of Essex served wedding cake to guests.

Miss Petigo was honored with two bridal showers prior to the wedding. One was held in Sikeston and hosted by Mrs. Bill McDowell, aunt of the groom. The other, hosted by Mrs. Autrey, was held in Essex.

The couple will leave shortly for a honeymoon in the Missouri Ozarks and, upon returning will live in Sikeston.

The groom is employed by his father as a drywall finisher and interior decorator.

Doll house is created by hand

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Polly Keener's three-story house has crystal chandeliers, gold leaf picture frames on its walls, hand-worked planking for its floors and an ancestor's picture — all in miniature.

It's an elaborate doll house Mrs. Keener made to help the Women's Board of Akron General Medical Center raise funds for the hospital. It brought $450 in that auction, but Mrs. Keener's father, George Leonard, did the high bidding and gave the house back to his daughter.

Mrs. Kenner followed no plans but drew freely from homes she loves. The stairway with its curved railing is a copy of one in her own house, for instance.

She built in a closet beneath the staircase because, she said, "I remember how much fun it was to hide in those little closets when I was a child."

When she discovered that crystal chandeliers for doll houses could cost $150, she used crystal beads from jewelry counters and made her own chandeliers. For candles, she rolled tiny paper scrolls, coated them with wax and added fake wicks.

Reproductions of oil paintings from museum catalogs adorn the doll house walls, in gold leaf frames she carved and finished herself.

"I cut up a petit point purse to make the rugs," says Mrs. Keener, "and took a locket-sized picture of my great-grandfather to put in its easel frame on a table in the library."

a tiny doll house in the nursery," Mrs. Keener says. "There is even a tinier doll house in the nursery doll house."

She carved all of the planking in the house, finishing the floors in mahogany. She paneled the library, using precarved lumber yard supplies for the wainscoting. The house is 40 inches high, 36 inches wide and 12 inches deep.

She made all the books for the library, though only one — "the hardest to do" — has pages.

Martindales will be honored at reception

Mr. and Mrs. James Martindale, 410 Hux, will be honored at an open house Sunday from 2 to 4 p.m. in observance of their 25th wedding anniversary at the home of Mrs. Martindale's sister and brother- in- law, Mr. and Mrs. Connie Mac Sells in Matthews.

The Martindales were married Feb. 3, 1949.

LETTERS to the EDITOR

THIS COUNTRY OF OURS
IS CALLED
"AMERICA"

It is supposed to be a beautiful place in which to live

Today, it is very ugly and "WE" made it just that way All we hear about are ugly findings and we haven't helped by spreading them all around.

There seems to be a crisis in every single thing we have. Things will never get any better if we don't wake up to help ourselves
If the blame lies on anyone, it has got to be all of us.

How many of us take out the time to even pray that our leader will find the answer?

He needs us, we need him, we need our country, and I truly believe only one man can help us now.

No, it's not the President
But lets give a little consideration to the man above us all.
Why impeach President Nixon?
Why not impeach all of us?
We're all responsible.
Why not impeach Congress?
Why not impeach those in control of Big Busines?
Why not just impeach the whole country if that's where everyone thinks the answer is at.

I think the answer lies within each and every one of "US"
Let's stand together and help our President get us back on our feet. Aren't we all a little tired of Laying on our backs?

Dear Editor:
Beware of Senate Bill S. 2686!
This legislation would establish a Legal Services Corporation funded by taxpayers' money. It would reach into every individual citizen's own personal credibility! It would make each individual Senator and Congressman liable for any misconduct of his employees right down to the lowest staff member. If enacted, this legislation would destroy our Police Department; it would affect every segment of our government and every businessman.
Urge your Senators to oppose any legislation such as S. 2686.
Sincerely,
C. C. Moseley, Pres.

Dear Mr. Blanton,
I'm the Humane officer's wife and I am very thankful for all the nice compliments he is receiving, I too think he is a wonderful Humane Officer. I never thought he would make one because he never seemed to care for animals, my children and myself were the same way. Now, we have love for these kind animals, more so since we've had "Cookie" she is so dear to us. It will be very hard to give her up we are so attached to her, would you please print this letter and here is a letter from "Cookies" owner to us. Thank you very much.
Mrs. Bobby Beardsley

Dear Mrs. & Mr. Beardsley,
I'm so thankful to you and your family that I just don't know what else to say. It was so thoughtful for you to send me the article about Cookie. It was all well said and done.
It's a comfort that Cookie does not constitute another concern right now, because you've both shown me that she has been in good hands and that I have nothing to worry about. In a way, I'm glad "Cookie" was lost for a time, for because of this fact I have felt the presence of some lovely people, I am indebted to you.
With Love
David Jackson

Rabbitt opposes statewide port authority bill

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Missouri House Speaker Richard Rabbitt, D-St. Louis, Tuesday opposed a bill supported by the governor to set up a statewide port authority.
The House Local Government Committee heard testimony on three bills concerning creation of Port authorities but delayed action on them.
Rabbitt said the bill that Gov. Christopher S. Bond favors goes against attempts to consolidate government. "It seems like we're seeting up another layer of government," he said.
Rabbitt said the big need in the St. Louis area was to expand industry "if we bring industry to Missouri the ports are going to develop around industry," he said.
Rabbitt supported a bill by Rep. Buddy Kay, D-St. Louis, that would provide enabling legislation for St. Louis to create its own port authority. The bill was also supported by some industry spokesmen.
The bill favored by Gov. Christopher S. Bond is sponsored by Rep. Al Mueller, D-St. Louis, Charles Valier, an aide to Bond, said there was need for overall planning for development of ports in the state.
Valier said Mueller's bill would provide bonding powers, a referee system for disputes and ability to get federal funds.
"You need broader authority than a city or county to establish a port," he said.
Matt Abboud, a spokesman for the Teamsters Union in St. Louis, supported a bill sponsored by Reps. Dan O'Toole, D-Florissant, and George Murray, R-Creve Coeur. It would allow St. Louis to create a port authority with appointment of board members by the mayor and approval by the board of aldermen. Abboud said politics and parochialism have prevented growth of the St. Louis Port, which he said clings to its No. 1 position as an inland port "only by a whisker."
Abboud charged there is favoritism to special interests at the St. Louis Port. "Sweetheart contracts on the riverfront are stopping progress," he said.
A. J. Wilson, assistant to St. Louis Mayor John Poelker, offered a substitute version for the bills sponsored by O'Toole and Mueller. He said the city wanted to have control over whatever port is established, rather than have it be a special district. Wilson also gave qualified support for Kay's bill, saying "we support the enabling approach ... we need state backing for out local effort."

Sikeston youth nominated for Naval Academy

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Hugh K. Norton, son of Dan Norton of Sikeston, Mo., and Mrs. Mary Marshall of Waterloo, Ill., has been nominated by Missouri 10th District Rep. Bill D. Burlison for appointment to U.S. Naval Academy classes beginning this summer at Annapolis, Md.
Burlison noted that he took into consideration each candidate's class scholastic standing, test scores and evaluations by a 10th District Advisory Committee based on interviews with the candidates.
Other principal nominees named by Burlison are:
George M. Walters of Jackson, U. S. Air Force Academy at Colorado Springs, Colo.; Alvis Wheatley of Kennett and Douglas W. Salzmann of Jackson, U.S. Military Academy at West Point, N.Y.; John E. Miesner of Brazeau and Thomas L. Wright of Doniphan, U.S. Naval Academy at Annapolis, Md.; Robert Walley, Jr., of Fredericktown and Cloyd E. Nickless of Pevely, U. S. Merchant Marine Academy at Kings Point, Long Island, N.Y.
Burlison noted that a principal nominee is sometimes disqualified, leaving the position open for an alternate.
Among first alternates chosen were:
Ralph L. White of Portageville, Air Force Academy; Jerry W. Richey of Dexter, U.S. Military Academy; and David M. Taylor of Steele, Naval Academy.
Among other alternates are: Christian A. Bourgeacq of Bell City, George R. Estes of Sikeston, James E. Long of Dexter, William C. Roper of Kennett and Howard R. Weaver of Steele.
The advisory committee which aided Burlison in screening nominees is composed of Lonnie Kinchen of Kennett, Charles Blanton III of Sikeston, Donald Gillihan of Farmington, Robert Dodson of Crystal City and Don Bedell of Poplar Bluff.

ew coach speaks at DSA banquet

Jim Lohr

Jim Lohr, new head football coach at Southeast Missouri State University, was guest speaker at the annual Jaycee Distinguished Service Award banquet Tuesday night at Sikeston Country Club.

Lohr, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Loren L. Lohr of 701 Hunter St., Sikeston, became the ninth head football coach in the 100-year history of Southeast Missouri State last month.

"If I am going to be a success as a football coach for SeMo University, it will be because of my friendship with Eddie Moss", Lohr said of the St. Louis Cardinal running back who was also a guest at the banquet.

Lohr, who coached Moss at Poplar Bluff High School, said his friendship with the Moss family was one of the most important factors in his career as a coach.

Lohr focused his remarks on respect. "Football players, in order to be a success, have to learn to love one another like brothers," Lohr said.

He said respect is one thing he wants his teams to know the meaning of, and if they are to continue to be a part of his athletic program, they must not only understand this but also believe in it.

Lohr said football players must learn to cope with one another, regardless of race or religion. "A lot of students who come to campus have never associated with black students," Lohr said.

"The most important thing a man can do is be a service to his community, and I want to teach my boys in football that it was a better team because they played on it," he remarked.

Moss spoke a few minutes after Lohr had finished and answered questions from the audience about the National Football League and the football Cardinals.

Thieves strike vending company

An undetermined amount of money and cigarettes have been reported stolen from Littleton's Vending Co., 825 S. Main St., police said today.

The theft was discovered Monday. The thieves entered the building through a window, police said.

Thieves also forced open a door to the W. C. Thompson home, 102 Applegate St., sometime between Jan. 21 and Tuesday, police said.

The thieves ransacked the house, apparently looking for money, but nothing was taken, according to police.

Senate sends energy bill back

WASHINGTON (AP) — Controversy over oil industry profits appears to have killed the emergency energy bill that Congress wrestled with for two months.

The Senate voted Tuesday to send the measure back to conference with the House in an effort to remove an excess profits provision that critics claimed was unworkable and probably unconstitutional.

The move to recommit had received the endorsement of President Nixon, who wrote Senate Minority Leader Hugh Scott that it "would be most unfortunate" if Congress approved the energy bill in its present form.

But both House and Senate leaders of the conference indicated there was little chance the conferees would reconsider the bill. The White House has said it needs the legislation before it can order gasoline rationing and other mandatory energy conservation measures.

"It's all in a shambles now," Senate Interior Committee Chairman Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., said. House Commerce Committee Chairman Harley O. Staggers, D-W. Va., agreed that the Senate vote probably would kill the bill.

"The administration is going to rue this day," Jackson said, explaining that without the bill the President would have to declare a national emergency before he could order rationing.

A source in the Federal Energy Office said gasoline rationing is a strong likelihood this summer if the Arab oil embargo continues.

Jackson also argued that the Senate's refusal to approve the excess profits measure in the bill would make the oil industry "more difficult, more belligerent. The industry must be glowing," Jackson said after the vote.

Sen. Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis., sponsor of the motion to recommit, argued that most of the bill's noncontroversial provisions, including rationing, could be attached to other measures.

The bill was recommitted by a vote of 57-37, with Republicans and oil state senators who prevented passage of the measure before Christmas being joined by Nelson and other liberal Democrats, including George McGovern, D-S.D., and Walter F. Mondale, D-Minn.

In other developments:

—Three oil companies announced substantial earnings increases for 1973. Phillips Petroleum Co. said earnings in the fourth quarter of 1973 more than doubled those of the same period in 1972. Sun Oil Co. announced a 59 per cent increase in earnings during the fourth quarter. And Marathon Oil Co. said its operating income for 1973 increased 62 per cent.

—A Senate Foreign Relations subcommittee is opening hearings on the foreign policy influence of multinational oil companies.

—Federal energy chief William E. Simon warned the American people that "scarce high cost energy will be the rule for many years if not indefinitely." He called for "a new energy ethic — a war on waste."

—The American Automobile Association said gasoline appears to be about as available this week as it was last week. What end-of-month shortages there are seem to be hitting metropolitan centers hardest, the AAA said.

Occasion was an all Arlen concert given by pianist Marian McPartland and her trio at Michael's Pub. Miss King sang some of the songs presented, including "Ac-cent-tchu-ate the Positive," with lyrics by Johnny Mercer; "Down with Love," lyrics by E. Y. (Yip) Harburg; "Ill Wind," by lyricist Ted Koehler; "The Man that Got Away," lyricist Ira Gershwin. Arlen's "chief collaborators" also include Lew Brown, Leo Robin, Ralph Blane, Dorothy Fields, Truman Capote, Dory

Ordinance will make new ward boundries

MALDEN — The City Council passed an ordinance Monday night to establish new boundary lines in the city's voting wards.

Shirley Deal was hired to pull the file cards of all voters affected by the ward changes; make necessary corrections and mail new cards to affected voters.

Ron Woburn, a Bootheel Regional Planning Commission representative, spoke about possible violations in the new zoning ordinance. A meeting will be held to make necessary corrections prior to calling of a public hearing.

The council voted to remove all parking meters from the downtown area on a 60-day trial basis in an effort to improve downtown shopping. If no difference is apparent at the end of the 60-day period, the meters will be reinstalled.

In other business, the building committee was authorized to inspect the city hall for possible repairs or remodeling. The equipment committee was authorized to seek bids on new police cars.

The insurance committee is to meet Thursday and review the present insurance plan for the city. The committee will seek bids for a new insurance plan in April.

City auditor Jack Chancey, informed the council that he is going out of business and asked the council to turn its files over to another firm. The council asked for more time to study the matter.

Violators can be punished with up to $1,000 fines and six months in prison.

The director of the Cleveland Office of Consumer Affairs, Herman Kammerman, said that the only previous guidelines were voluntary codes established by the Better Business Bureau and the Cleveland Advertising Club.

To toast a cup of sesame seed, spread the seeds in a large shallow baking pan. Bake in a preheated 350-degree oven, stirring often, until toasted — about 10 minutes. Use the amount of toasted sesame seed needed and store the remainder in a tightly covered jar in the refrigerator.

NEW YORK (AP) — The ardent Noel Coward fan has a new way to commemorate Sir Noel — wear a perfume named in his honor. Stanley Hall, who is known in theatrical circles, has announced the introduction of three new fragrances, each named after a Noel Coward play, "Blithe Spirit," "Easy Virtue" and "Conversation Piece." The perfumes were created by PPL, a British fragrance supplier, and are available from Hall's shop.

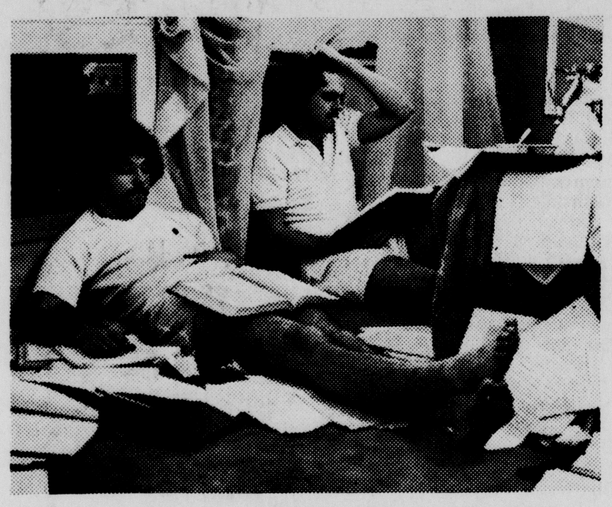
'Paper Chase' opens Friday at Mall Theatre

"The Paper Chase", a contemporary comedy- drama about a group of freshmen law students at Harvard, premieres Friday at Mall Theatre in Kingsway Plaza Mall.



Directed by James Bridges and starring Timothy Bottoms, Lindsay Wagner, John Houseman, Graham Beckel and James Naughton, "The Paper Chase" is based upon a novel by John Jay Osborn Jr. and was produced by Robert C. Thompson and Rodrick Paul.

"The Paper Chase" unites some of the most acclaimed young talent in motion pictures today, including Bottoms, star of "The Last Picture Show"; Bridges, who directed "The Baby Maker", and cinematographer Gordon Willis, the man behind the camera on "The Godfather".

Houseman, producer, director and head of the drama division of the Juillard School at Lincoln Center in New York, marks his first major appearance as a film actor in "The Paper Chase", playing a tough Harvard law professor.

Miss Wagner, who plays Houseman's rebellious daughter and Bottoms' lover, makes her second film appearance in "The Paper Chase". In 1971, she starred with Peter Fonda in Robert Wise's "Two People".

Beckel, a newcomer to films, leads the contingent of New York, Broadway and off-Broadway actors who form the cast of "The Paper Chase". Beckel was in the Broadway success, "Sticks and Bones", when scouted for the film.

Other stage recruits include Naughton, who scored in the recent off- Broadway production of Eugene O'Neill's "Long Day's Journey into Night", and Ed Herrmann, Craig Richard Nelson, David Clennon and Bob Lydiard.

The film was shot on location in Cambridge, Mass., and Toronto, Canada.

Preparing for exams

IRS urges early filing

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Internal Revenue Service officials are urging Missouri taxpayers to file tax returns early to speed refunds.

A. W. McCanless, IRS district director, said the agency is preparing to issue about 60 million refunds, including about 1,350,000 in Missouri.

Taxpayers who file returns in January can usually expect their refunds in four to five weeks, McCanless said. Refunds for late filers take from six to eight weeks, he said.

One reason for the delay is that work piles up at the service center in Kansas City where returns are processed, McCanless explained.

Agent receives sales award

MATTHEWS — Bob Chism of Matthews, agent for New Madrid and Scott counties, was awarded the most valuable agent award for the month of December by Farm Bureau Insurance Co.

To achieve the high standing, Chism had to sell more life and casualty insurance than any other Farm Bureau agent in the state.

Chism also won the distinction of being the only agent in the state to win the award twice in 1973.

School gets new machine

HOWARDVILLE— A new 53- horsepower, tractor power train valued at over $6,000, a gift from Ford Motor Co. Tractor and Implement Operations, was delivered Friday to the farm mechanics class at New Madrid County R-1 Vocational- Technical School.

Arrangements for securing the unit through the educational program of Ford Motor Co. were made by Herschell (Red) Hailey Jr., manager of C and S Ford Tractor Inc. of Sikeston and S. J. Stewart of Cape Girardeau, sales representative for Ford Motor Co.

Sam Bodine, director of the school, accepted the new machine and said the students now have an opportunity to gain working experience on the latest diesel equipment, in addition to their classroom study.

Christian arts council decides on new name

CAPE GIRARDEAU— Arts and Recreation Council of Cape Girardeau, Inc. was voted as the new name for the Christian Arts Council of Cape Girardeau, Inc. when the members met recently at the Flaming Pit for luncheon and a business meeting.

The new name was proposed by the board of directors and presented to the membership for a vote because the organization, which promotes craftsmen and artists, is enlarging its scope of activities to meet the increased demands of the membership in Cape Girardeau, southeast Missouri, southern Illinois and the northwestern area of Kentucky.

Organized in 1961 the council sponsored its first public events in 1963. Craft shows have been a regular feature of the organization, as well as bazaars at which craftsmen have presented their work for public viewing and sale. Musical events and plays have been sponsored for public enjoyment. Creative writing and poetry workshops and Christmas card contests also have been held.

Otto F. Dingeldein, president and charter member of the council, explained that the $5,000 grant received from the National Endowment for the Arts was the first such grant given in the country to an organization for administrative and expansion purposes and it was given because of the council's achievements and assistance to area artists and craftsmen.

Dingeldein said a prospectus of the arts is being prepared by Mrs. Dingeldein to supply information for craftsmen and artists as well as the general public.

Additional information about this phase of the council's work will be announced later.

Dates for the annual spring craft show were announced by chairman Carroll Snead as Apr. 6 from 1 to 8 p.m., and Apr. 7, from 1 to 6 p.m. at the Arena Building.

Craftsmen may obtain information and make arrangements for display space by contacting Snead, in care of the Arts & Recreation Council of Cape Girardeau, Inc., Box 606, Cape Girardeau, Mo. 63701. Craftsmen from Missouri, Illinois, Kentucky and Tennessee will display their work at the show.

Dr. Dan Cotner, chairman of music, announced that the annual recital of private music pupils selected by local instructors will be presented Feb. 24 at First Baptist Church at 2 p.m. Information regarding the event may be obtained by contacting Dr. Cotner.

Mrs. James H. Tilley, chairman of Children's Theatre said the play, "Winnie the Pooh" will be presented by a children's cast at the Cape Central High School auditorium at 7:30 p.m. March 8 and March 9 at 2 p.m.

A spring poetry workshop is being conducted by Mrs. Howard Bock and craft classes are being organized in Jackson by Mrs. Lee G. Cochran. Joseph H. Quatmann is general chairman of craft classes.

Mustangs romp past LHS

WARDELL--- The North Pemiscot Mustangs avenged an earlier two point loss to the Lilbourn Panthers with a convincing 72- 57 victory here Tuesday night over the Daily Standard's number one team.

Outside the first period of play the Panthers were outplayed in the entire game as the Mustang zone defense forced the panthers outside and Lilbourn had trouble finding the hole in the bucket.

Coach Don McMahon, coach of the Mustangs, felt that his team is improving since the first of the year and thinks his Mustangs can beat the Panthers again if necessary.

The Mustangs held the high scoring machine of the Panthers in check throughout the contest as Ernest McFerren was high for the Panthers with 14 points.

Sophomore Jerry Stewart led the Mustangs in scoring with 23 points with his outcourt shooting.

Lilbourn is 20- 2 and NPHS is 13- 6. The Mustangs hit 16 free shots with 12 coming in the last four minutes of the game.

After a cold shooting first period by both teams with Lilbourn leading 12- 9 the Mustangs found the range and forged ahead 30- 28 at the half. Lilbourn came back and had the score tied at the end of the third quarter but the Panthers' shooting went cold and the Mustangs hit 25 points to 11 for Lilbourn.

Lilbourn had to foul in the last minutes of the game as NP had the lead and the ball.

It was a victorious night for the Mustangs altogether as NP won the B game 55- 44. Robert Blackman hit 23 for NPHS and Treadwell hit 17 for Lilbourn. NPHS is 13- 3 for the year and Lilbourn is 15- 2.

Dogs fail to stop Nelson, Mize

JACKSON-- The Sikeston Bulldogs saw their season's record drop to 5- 9 here Tuesday night as they dropped an error- filled 86- 63 decision to the Jackson Indians. The SHS SeMo conference record now stands at 1- 2.

Before the game Sikeston's head coach N. P. McDaniel remarked that Jackson was a team which was led by two individuals. "If we stop those two," the veteran coach said, "We'll play them a good game."

Well, Sikeston didn't appear to have anyone equal to the task. The two, Kent Nelson and John Mize, riddled the Sikeston defense for 50 points combined. Nelson scored 28.

Jackson led all the way in the contest. They jumped to an early lead of 21- 6, before Sikeston began to hit. The Dogs ran off eight straight points to trail 21- 14, then narrowed the gap to 23- 18. But, five points was as close as they got all night long.

Even in victory the Indians were sloppy. Their 26 turnovers were three more than Sikeston committeed. But, the Indians hit 32 of 76 shots for a respectable 42 percent mark, a percentage boosted by the numerous "snowbird" baskets Nelson was able to mark up, outrunning the Sikeston guards down the court. Sikeston, meanwhile, hit just 23 of 81 for 28 percent, their lowest of the year.

Bowman scored 20 points, most of them from the free throw line, to lead Sikeston. Vangalee West followed with 16.

Nelson led Jackson scorers. Mize scored his 22 points on just 14 floor shots. Terry Gohn was the other Indian in double figures with ten points. The big pivotman led all rebounders with an even dozen, despite sitting out nearly half the game.

In the preliminary contest, the Sikeston jayvees grabbed a come- from- behind 57- 53 win. The victory ran their conference mark to 3- 0.

'Too Little' top choice

NEW YORK (AP) — To the surprise of practically nobody, the Dallas Cowboys drafted Tennessee State's Ed Jones — and with an equal amount of surprise, the big defensive lineman's first play was to throw the World Football League for a bit of a loss.

The tension was nonexistent Tuesday as Commissioner Pete Rozelle called the National Football League's annual body count — the draft — to order. Houston had the worst record last season — but Dallas, thanks to a trade, had the Oilers' first-round pick, mainly No. 1.

"There was never any question about him being No. 1," Cowboys' scouting chief Gil Brandt said in Dallas, moments after he'd directed the team's representatives on the phone in New York to write Jones' name on the draft card.

The Detroit team of the infant WFL had written Jones' name on its card a week ago — although it obviously figured it was just going through the motions. The WFL didn't go for him until the end of the third round. And Jones made it pretty obvious that he didn't go for the WFL.

"I prefer to play in the NFL," the 6-foot-9, 260-pounder nicknamed "Too Tall" said at a news conference in Dallas moments after his name had kicked off the draft. In fact, he'll be the tallest lineman in the NFL next season. And there's little doubt that he'll be on the line when the campaign begins.

After Jones was picked, the drama picked up just a bit — but not the tempo. It took 3¾ hours for the 26 selections of Round One to be made, the longest it's taken since the 4:16 of the first NFL-AFL combined draft of 1967.

The first day's action didn't end until 9:02 p.m. with the completion of the fifth round. That left 12 rounds — 312 of the 442 players up for grabs — for today.

Running backs accounted for a high 23 of the 75 offensive players taken Tuesday and San Diego took the first of them. The Chargers, No. 2 in the order, went for Colorado's 228-pound Bo Matthews. The New York Giants, whose 2-11-1 record equalled San Diego's but who lost the coin flip for the chance to go No. 2, didn't lose anything.

CAPE GIRARDEAU — The Notre Dame Bulldogs used their 1-2-2 zone defense and the shooting of Don Maurer to down cross town rival Cape Central here Tuesday night 55-52.

The zone defense blocked 6-9 Stan Ray and 6-6 Owen Suggs from under the basket, holding Ray to only 10 points and Suggs hit only 12. Maurer hit 24 points for the Bulldogs.

The game opened up very deliberate for both teams as a total of 16 points were scored by both teams in the first period. The scoring opened up in the second quarter with Notre Dame taking the advantage 18-14 and led by four, 26-32 at the half.

Cape Central came out shooting in the third period and erased the four point lead to take a two point advantage into the final eight minutes of play.

With Ray and Suggs held off the Bulldogs had little trouble taking the game away in the last quarter, outscoring the Tigers 17-12.

Cape Central won the B game 62-39 with Stiegemeyer hitting 17 for the Tigers and Seyer hit eight for the Bulldogs.

Hawks remain unbeaten in SMC

BENTON--- The Kelly Hawks and the Delta Bobcats struggled through a defensive battle here Tuesday night with the Hawks coming out on top 66- 49 to give the Hawks a 4- 0 record in Scott-Mississippi conference play and 16- 2 overall.

The game was rather loosely played as the officials called only 21 fouls in the game against both teams. Kelly received 13 whistles stoppers and Delta came out with only eight against them.

"It was a very poorly played game", commented coach Nick Lanpher referring to his Hawks.

Kelly played a good defensive game but was unable to move the ball properly on offense.

The Hawks started well as coach Lanphers team took a 20- 14 first period lead but the playing became rather shaggy in the second period as neither team could do much as far as ball handling was concerned and Delta stayed within two points of the Hawks in the second period and trailed Kelly 32- 24 at the intermission.

The second half found both teams taking up where they left in the first half as turnovers dominated the third quarter as Kelly managed to outscore the smaller but scrappy Bobcats 11- 8.

Coach Lanpher kept shuffling in substitutes all during the game as some of his starters had difficulty following his directions.

Russ Mothershead had a hot first half and ended the game with 24 points. Troy Martin hit 18 for the Bobcats high game honors.

Delta shot a terrific percentage in the first half of the B game and whipped the Hawks handily 61- 49. Cook hit 16 for Delta and Ron Schlosser hit 16 for the Hawks.

ARCADIA, Calif. (AP) — Five jockeys including Ron Turcotte, the rider of Horse-of- the Year Secretariat, have been nominated as candidates for the 1974 George Woolf Memorial Award at Santa Anita.

The other four, Bill Mahorney, Alvaro Pineda, Fernando Toro and Jacinto Vasquez all are campaigning here. Turcotte currently is riding at Gulfstream Park in Florida.

The nominees were selected by a committee representing the racing press.

Premium ride without premium gas!

Today a premium ride is not enough. You also need a car you can afford to run. And for 1974 Mercury Marquis is designed to be that kind of car. It uses regular fuel. Its standard steel-belted radials give thousands of extra miles of tread wear over non-radials. And a '74 Mercury is designed to save you an estimated average of 26% on scheduled maintenance costs when compared to a '73 Mercury in 50,000 miles of normal driving. That's due to innovations like solid state ignition. So you see, a premium ride is just not enough. Unless it comes in a car you can afford to operate. We invite you to come drive the Mercury Marquis for 1974—the premium ride that uses regular gas!

Cleaning up

Boy Scouts from Troop 41 were busy this weekend with a father and son campout at Lake Wappapello. While at the site the boys picked up trash along the lake's edges. From 1807 to 1822, Portuguese king John VI and his family ruled the kingdom of Portugal. But during that time, the king never touched foot in the country; he was living in Brazil!

Campout held by Troop 41

Boy Scout Troop 41 of Sikeston sponsored a father and son campout this weekend at the Senior Scout Base at Lake Wappapello. Twenty- one scouts and 11 fathers attended.

Twelve boys advanced to the next progress award while at the weekend retreat. All of the requirements for 25 skill awards were also completed by different scouts.

A service project for the camp was completed, and scouts walked around the lake picking up several bags of trash.

Troop 41 is sponsored by the Sikeston Kiwanis Club.

Frankly speaking

Rising propane gas prices bring many complaints

By SEN. THOMAS EAGLETON

WASHINGTON — The price of propane gas has risen to unconscionable and intolerable levels. In some cases the increase has been as much as 300 per cent in one year's time.

None of the usual arguments advanced to justify higher prices for other fuels apply in the case of propane.

Higher prices will not lead to increased production because propane is principally a byproduct of natural gas, which remains under tight price controls. Trying to induce greater propane production through price under those circumstances is like trying to wag the dog with his tail.

Nor will higher prices lead to decreased demand for propane except at an horrendous cost in human suffering. Propane is heavily used in rural and low income areas where it is the basic fuel for home heating and cooking. These are things people can't do without.

The only thing these price increases will do is to make rich men out of a few producers and a few brokers who bought up substantial amounts of propane at cheap prices and are now unloading it at whatever the market will bear.

This is a matter of urgent concern to me since Missouri is the second largest user of propane in the nation. I have called on Federal Energy Administrator William Simon to undertake an immediate review of the situation. I believe these prices should be rolled back and kept frozen unless and until the companies involved can document and justify an increase.

I am attaching to this statement a copy of my telegram to Mr. Simon and a sampling of the many letters I have received from constituents which explain better than I can the hardships created by these price increases.

Mr. William E. Simon
Administrator
Federal Energy Office
Washington, D.C. 20461

In recent weeks my office has received numerous complaints about sharply increased prices of propane-- in some cases increases of 300 per cent in the space of one year.

I have heard it argued by administration spokesmen that higher prices for petroleum products will serve as an incentive to increased production and at the same time will help to discourage consumption. Whatever merit there may be in that general argument, I do not believe it applies at all in the case of propane.

As you know, most propane is produced as a byproduct of natural gas the price of which is tightly controlled by the Federal Power Commission. No increase in the price of propane could possibly result in expanded production unless or until natural gas production is also expanded.

With regard to consumption, I would emphasize the great differences between propane and such other fuels as gasoline. While it may be possible for individuals to forego a vacation trip or to carpool in response to an increase in gasoline prices, those options are not open for the most part to the users of propane. A study would show that propane is most heavily used in rural and low- income areas, almost exclusively for heating homes and cooking. These are not things one does without very easily.

The net result of increased prices of propane has not been to spur production of the product nor to make any significant impact on demand. Rather it has been to put enormous inflationary burdens on the very families who can least afford it.

This is a matter of urgent concern and I am requesting your office to conduct an immediate review of these price increases and to take the appropriate steps to correct the situation.

Please advise my office at your earliest convenience of any actions taken.

Sincerely,
Thomas F. Eagleton
United States Senator

Dear Senator,

I am writing you in regard to rising fuel prices. I am a widow, trying to live on Social Security in a small community. I use gas for heating and the price has risen to the point where I cannot afford to keep my small home warm and I am 74 years old. My aching bones are getting me down. When is this going to end? Surely there is something that can be done about it?

I am appealing to you for help. Surely the government can stop these rising prices. Thank you for at least reading this letter and I have faith in such men as you seeing that something is done.

Constituent
Branson, Missouri

Dear Senator Eagleton:

I am writing to you for some help. We use propane gas to heat our small 3 room house. We live in one room to save gas because of price. It is doubled to what it was a year ago. Year ago was 16.9 cents a gallon. This past December 18, 1973 was 30 cents a gallon. January 16, 1974, 35 cents a gallon. I am on a fixed income. No Social Security. I retired from Sedalia, Missouri Fire Department in 1958. All the Fireman's pension I receive is $175.00 a month. My veterans is $105.54.

My wife and I live on this to buy medicine, pay the doctor and all rest out of my small pension. I was hoping you could or would help lower propane gas where poor people can buy it. Thermostat set at 68 degrees. Wood is too high. No stove. Thanks.

Constituent
Edwards, Missouri

Dear Senator Eagleton:

We are writing you to see if it is possible for you to inquire into the raising price of bottle gas to heat homes. We don't have our book to show how much the gas was a year ago, but we think it was around eleven or fourteen cents a gallon. We just received a letter saying it was going to thirty- four cents a gallon on receipt of the letter, this must be something like a 300 per cent increase in one year.

Would appreciate anything you can do to help in this case as this heating gas increase is really going to hurt as cold as it has been around here this last month or so.

Constituent
St. Joseph, Missouri

Dear Senator Eagleton:

I am writing you concerning the price of propane gas. Within the past 12 months, the price of this fuel has risen from 12 cents to 36 cents a gallon. I live in a mobile home in a trailer park that offers only propane gas for heating and cooking purposes. Although we have been practicing significant fuel saving measures our monthly propane gas bills are $40-$50 per month as opposed to $10-$20 per month one year ago.

Can you tell me why no ceiling prices have been placed on propane gas when such limits have been placed on virtually every type of fuel? Paying the current prices is producing a TRUE economic hardship for my family. Is there any way you can get these prices lowered? I, and the many neighbors I have discussed this problem with are quite anxious to know your views on this problem.

Constituent
Columbia, Missouri

Dear Sir:

We have just payed a 2-month gas bill (propane) for $145.02. Our furnace is set at 65 degrees and we have been cold all winter. Now we're broke too! With 3 months to go. Please look into the Gas company's making a profit at public's expense. This company is taking new customers and selling all it can. We do not make enough money to pay such a bill. I could cry! It is very hard for us. Please do what you can about this...

Big Opening-- Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Ponder of Sikeston were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Hastings.

A grain elevator and a cotton gin owned and operated by the Bertrand Elevator Co., at Bertrand burned Sunday night. A sweeping north wind carried the flames to a store building immediately to the southeast of the gin and it was also destroyed. The store building was owned by a Mr. Schwab, the station agent.

The Sikeston High School basektball teams took two games from the weaker Chaffee High Red Devils on the latter's court Friday. The local girls led all the way but barely nosed out the rallying Chaffee team by one point as the final whistle ended the game at 34 to 33. The boys took a more satisfactory lead over their opponents and held it all the way to win out 29 to 18.

A reduction in the electric rates of the Missouri Utiiities Co., which would effect 27 Southeast Missouri towns has been placed before the Public Service Commission by the company. The reduction will effect the Sikeston users of the Utilities current, who have their residences wired with that company.

Playing the Matthews Pirates for the second time this season, the Bulldogs again overshadowed them by an overwhelming score of 50- 11. In the first game, the B team, somewhat revised, jolted the Matthews B team by a score of 31- 14. Walker was the high man in the A game with 14 points and Myers was high scorer in the B game with 8 points.

Claims practices review ordered

JEFFERSON CITY — Missouri Division of Insurance Supt. Edward G. Farmer Jr. announced today he has ordered a major review of the cancellation and claims practices of insurance companies writing accident and health coverage in Missouri.

Preliminary investigations have revealed that some insurance companies who issue guaranteed renewable policies have failed to mail renewal notices to policyholders who made claims, Farmer said.

In addition, claim benefit payments have been unduly delayed and, in some instances, denied with no basis for denial, he said.

Insurance practices of this nature are not acceptable in Missouri, Farmer said.

"The insurance division will continue to actively pursue consumer complaints and insurance practices not consistent with the public interest. Those companies and individuals in violation of Missouri statutes and regulations will be subject to panalties and disciplinary action," he said.

Dispute is more heated over Tietjen dismissal

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The dispute between the students and faculty of Concordia Seminary and Dr. Jacob A.O. Preus, president of the Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod, has become more heated as the seminary entered the eighth day of a virtual standstill.

The central figure in the dispute—the Rev. Dr. John H. Tietjen, ousted president of the seminary—was attacked by Dr. Preus Tuesday as a divisive factor "who has made meaningful dialogue and reconciliation impossible."

Students began a boycott of classes at the seminary Jan. 14 and were joined in the efforts by 46 of the 51 members of the school's teachers on Jan. 15 to protest the suspension of Dr. Tietjen by the board of control at the synodical school. Tietjen was charged with teaching false doctrine and malfeasance of offices.

In a letter to the faculty, Dr. Preus criticized Dr. Tietjen for using the media to air disputes within the church and for using "more of the name-calling at which he is so adept."

Dr. Preus also told the faculty that he refused to discuss the crisis which closed the seminary with any professor over the telephone,' "lest I be taped without knowing it." He accused the faculty majority of trapping people into deals by tricking them with taped telephone conversations.

Meanwhile, there was increased speculation among all parties involved in the dispute that some action to resolve the crisis might be taken by the board of directors of the synod, who are scheduled to meet officially on Thursday.

A synod spokesman said the directors met informally Tuesday night, but that he did not know what was said about the split in the church's ranks—or even if it had been discussed.

The conflict, which some believe could cause an irreparable split in the synod, has also reached into the synod's headquarters. About 65 executive staff members met Monday night to discuss the situation and the possibility of asking Dr. Preus to resign, but spokesmen said no firm action was decided upon.

The conflict, although involving highly complex questions concerning church doctrine and alleged political maneuvers on the part of conservatives and moderates within the church, appears to have evolved to the point where battle lines have been drawn around Dr. Tietjen.

The seminary faculty and several members of the synod's executive staff have backed Dr. Tietjen and have stated that his reinstatement is a condition for any negotiation of differences.

Dr. Preus, on the other hand, has refused to intervene in the school control board's actions and has said he does not believe "it is in the cards" for the board to reverse its decision.

Kennett is victim of strange crimes

KENNETT, Mo. (AP)—Police in this Missouri Bootheel community had their hands full Tuesday trying to track down some peculiar criminals.

The latest incident in the rather unusual crime wave occurred Monday night when Police Capt. Lawrence Wake had his dirty underwear stolen.

Wake's wife, Sandra, left the laundry, bundled up in a brown paper bag, in her unlocked car while she was in the supermarket, police said, but when she returned, the package was gone.

"I mean all of it," Wake said in describing the thief's haul Tuesday, "my shorts, everything."

Over the weekend, thieves struck at the city dog pound and rescued six stray dogs scheduled to be destroyed Monday because no homes had been found for them.

Authorities said three sliding doors were knocked down to get to the dogs, which had been in the pound for about 10 days.

By MARY NOLEN

Recipes featured in this week's Cooking- Up column are a few of the favorites of Mrs. Thelma Bess, 408 Shady Lane.

Mrs. Bess is a secretary for attorney Weber Gilmore of the Gilmore, Gilmore and Gilmore law firm. She is a former secretary for Circuit Court Judge J. C. McDowell of Mississippi, Scott and Cape Girardeau counties and worked 10 years as a secretary for the Springfield Court of Appeals.

In 1968 she was chosen legal secretary of the year in Missouri.

She was married to the late Roy Bess and is the mother of two daughters, Mrs. Cathy Dockins and Mrs. Paula Gay Evans of Sikeston.

In her spare time Mrs. Bess likes to listen to music, play the organ, and do crewel and needle- point work.

Althought she didn't start cooking until after she was married, Mrs. Bess said the kitchen has always been a favorite part of her home.

ICE BOX ROLLS

Dissolve: 2 pkgs. of yeast in 1 cup of warm water
1 cup scalded milk
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cup shortening

After the mixture cools, add two eggs and approximately three cups of flour. Let rise for approximately two hours.

Add one teaspoon salt. Sift three cups of flour onto board. Roll dough out on flour and cut into rolls.

Melt one stick oleo and dip each round roll in oleo and fold over. Let rise in pan until double in size. Bake at 450 degrees until golden brown.

ANGEL FOOD DESSERT

1 medium size angel food cake (loaf)
1 can sweetened condensed milk
4 lemons, strained (use juice only)
1/2 cup of sugar
1 pt. whipping cream (whipped)

Slice cake in thin slices. Place half of the layers in 9x13 cake pan. Combine condensed milk, lemon juice and sugar and pour over cake slices. Place the other half of the cake slices over this and cover with balance of lemon mixture.

Pour one small can flaked coconut over the cake. Chill overnight or for several hours. Cut into squares. Makes 15 (5x3) slices of cake or 20 (5x4) slices.

BANANA PUDDING

2 cups sweet milk
1 cup sugar
3 tbsp. butter
3 eggs
1 tsp. vanilla
3 tbsp. flour

Cook in double boiler. After cooling, place layer of vanilla wafers, layer of bananas, then cover with pudding. Alternate same the second time. Whipped cream may be added to each serving.

APRICOT SHERBET

1 No. 2 can crushed pineapple (syrup too)
1/2 No. 2 can mashed pitted apricots (syrup too)
2 mashed bananas
2 lemons, juiced
1 small can frozen orange juice
2 cups sugar
1 half pt. whipping cream (unwhipped)

Combine all ingredients. Mix well and add enough milk to fill freezer to proper level. This will make either one gallon or 1 1/2 gallons, depending on the amount of milk added and size of freezer. Follow normal freezing procedure.

DIVINITY

2 1/2 cups of sugar
1/2 cup water
1/2 cup white syrup

Combine ingredients and place mixture over medium heat.

Have two egg whites well beaten in a large bowl. After mixture is cooked to a soft boil stage, pour about half of the mixture over egg whites, beating all the time.

Place mixture back on stove and cook until it forms a hard crack in cup cold water.

Beating constantly, pour over other mixture and add one teaspoon of vanilla.

When candy takes on a gloss and becomes very thick, add 3/4 cup broken pecans, if desired, and drop mixture by teaspoons onto waxed paper. Place half a pecan on each piece.

When candy is completely set, it will come up easily from waxed paper.

Readers,

Mrs. Jim Bishop of East Prairie, whose recipes ran last week, noticed two mistakes in last week's Cooking- Up column, So, she sent us the two recipes which were incorrectly reported.

CHEESE SOUFFLE

1 cup scalded milk
1 cup bread crumbs fresh bread- cut in small cubes - trim off crusts if desired
1/2 cup grated cheese (snappy); I use cheddar
1 tbsp. butter
1/2 tsp. salt
3 yolks of eggs well beaten (save whites)

Mix all together, then fold into 3 egg whites which have been beaten stiff. Grease baking dish well and bake in oven for 20 minutes or until golden brown. 350 degrees oven. Serves six.

Of the top 50 U.S. companies in sales or revenue in 1972, 10 were oil companies, according to New York Stock Exchange data. Computing profit as a percentage of sales or revenue reveals that 22 of these companies had a net profit of 5 per cent or more in 1972, of these eight were oil companies, The World Almanac notes.

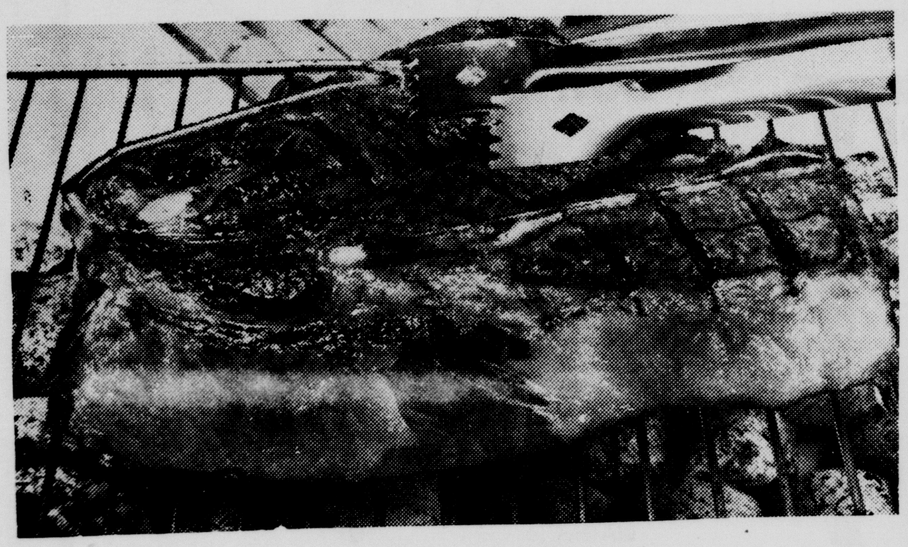
Charcoal broil that chuck roast



MEAT ... of chuck roast and treat it to meat Hawaiian style marinade.

HAWAIIAN CHARCOAL ROAST

5- to 7-pound chuck roast, about 2 1/2 inches thick
Unseasoned meat tenderizer
1/2 cup soy sauce
1/4 cup bourbon
3 tablespoons lime juice
3 tablespoons water
1 tablespoon salad oil
1 tablespoon plus 1 teaspoon brown sugar
1/2 teaspoon ginger
2 large cloves garlic, thinly sliced

Trim excess fat from meat; score edges of meat as for steak to prevent curling. Sprinkle meat on all sides with about 3/4 to 1 1/2 teaspoons meat tenderizer. Let stand at room temperature for 1 hour.

For marinade, combine all remaining ingredients. Pour marinade over roast; turn roast and spoon some of marinade over top. Cover; marinate at room temperature for 4 to 5 hours. Turn every hour.

Remove meat from marinade; brush off garlic slices Reserve about 1/2 cup of the marinade. Grill meat about 6 inches from medium hot coals for about 30 minutes to obtain a medium rare roast. Turn meat with tongs about every 7 to 8 minutes, brushing with reserved marinade after each turn. To test doneness, make a small cut near bone.

Remove roast from grill; slice thin, diagonally across the grain. Serve with natural juices.

ONION CHEESE PIE

It's an economical and delicious choice for a main course

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

For a meatless supper an Onion Cheese Pie served with a crisp salad makes an excellent main course. For ending this meal, choose a hearty dessert. Or, if you like, you can serve soup as a first course and put fruit at the end of the menu.

The onion used in the pie is the Spanish variety that comes in large round size and has a crackly-thin golden-bronze skin. It is wonderfully sweet and adds distinctive flavor.

ONION CHEESE PIE

Cheese-flavor crackers
1/2 cup butter or margarine
Large Spanish onion
2 eggs
1 cup milk
1 teaspoon salt
1/8 teaspoon white pepper
1/2 teaspoon dried crushed Italian herb seasoning
3/4 cup coarsely grated sharp cheddar cheese

Finely crush enough of the crackers to make 1 3/4 cups crumbs. Melt 6 tablespoons of the butter and mix with the crumbs; press over bottom and sides of a 9-inch pie plate. Bake in a preheated 350-degree oven for 5 minutes. Cool.

Peel onion; cut in half lengthwise; slice thin; separate slices into half-rings — there should be 3 cups.

In a 10-inch skillet melt the remaining 2 tablespoons butter. Add onion and cook gently, stirring often, until soft and transparent; onion should look yellowed but not brown. Spread onion over bottom of pie shell.

In a small saucepan beat eggs slightly; add milk, salt, pepper and Italian seasoning and beat just enough to combine. Add cheese. Stir constantly over low heat until cheese melts — do not boil. Pour over onion.

Bake in a preheated 450-degree oven for 10 minutes. Reduce heat to 350 degrees and bake until filling is set — 15 to 20 minutes longer.

Makes 6 main-dish servings.

Grant for city park extended

Sikeston has received a one- year extension on a $155,945 federal grant which is helping finance construction of the new recreational complex, Acting City Manager Bill Whitlock said today.

The city had been forced to ask for an extension of the grant when bad weather delayed construction work on the project beyond the Dec. 31, 1973 deadline.

The extension was ordered by the Missouri Inter- Agency Council for Outdoor Recreation, which channeled the grant from the federal government to the city. The grant will pay one-half of the project's cost.

The extension will mean funds for the 140- acre project will be available until Dec. 31, 1974. Under the original grant, the availability of funds ran out at the end of 1973.

The amount of the grant was adjusted downward to reflect the lower cost of the project following deletion of plans for a par- three golf course. The project cost was decreased from $390,500 to $311,890. The federal government's share of the project dropped from $195,250 to $155,945. The $78,000 drop in the cost of the project was caused entirely by the deletion of the golf course.

The complex will include baseball diamonds, tennis courts, a fishing lake and picnic facilities.

Most construction materials are on hand and the city only needs good weather to complete the project, according to Whitlock.

Nixon will reject order to testify

WASHINGTON A(P) — President Nixon will reject a California state court order that he testify in person at the trial of former aides indicted for the break-in at the office of Daniel Ellsberg's psychiatrist, the White House said today.

Deputy Press Secretary Gerald L. Warren said White House attorneys "will recommend to the President that he respectfully decline to appear ... on constitution grounds." Warren made clear that Nixon would heed that advice.

But Warren left open the possibility that Nixon might respond to written questions.

"If other requests are put to the White House, they will be dealt with as they arise," he said in answer to a reporter's question.

John D. Ehrlichman and two other former White House aides are seeking Nixon's testimony to support their contention that they were acting as federal officers when the break-in occurred in 1971.

Ehrlichman is charged with burglary, conspiracy and perjury in connection with the break-in.

David Young and G. Gordon Liddy, both former White House aides, are charged with burglary and conspiracy.

Superior Court Judge Gordon Ringer of Los Angeles Tuesday said he will approve a certificate "demanding President Richard M. Nixon to testify Feb. 25, 1974, and April 15, 1974."

The certificate in effect is an out-of-state subpoena, and must be issued formally by a superior court judge where the recipient resides, in this case the District of Columbia.

Nixon's refusal to testify in person could touch off a legal battle.

But indications were that moves were under way to reach a compromise, perhaps with the President answering written interrogatories submitted to him on key issues at stake in the proceeding.

Warren said Ehrlichman's attorneys had discussed the subject of written questions with Nixon's chief Watergate lawyer James D. St. Clair "but not in any specific way."

Ringer, who said this would be the first time a President has been subpoenaed by a state court, said he will sign the subpoena by Friday. The subpoena commands Nixon to appear at a pretrial hearing Feb. 25. and at the trial April 15.

The judge ruled earlier Tuesday that Nixon is a material witness to the defense case of Ehrlichman and two other former White House employes, G. Gordon Liddy and David R. Young Jr. All three are charged with burglary and conspiracy. Ehrlichman is also charged with perjury.

The White House formally declined comment on the ruling until it receives the judge's order, but sources later indicated the President would decline to appear personally as a witness.

Ehrlichman attorney Douglas Dalton immediately prepared the three-page subpoena. But Dalton said Ringer decided to study the subpoena's legal phraseology before signing.

Robert Mitchell given DSA Award, 3 others honored

Robert L. Mitchell Jr. received the Distinguished Service Award and James E. Moore III was named Boss of the Year Tuesday night at the annual Jaycee Distinguished Service Award banquet at Sikeston Country Club.

The Outstanding Young Educator Award was presented to Mrs. Nickie Taylor, 706 Pine St., a teacher at Southeast Elementary School, and Dan William Hinton, 222 Harry St., was honored as Outstanding Young Law Enforcement Officer.

The Distinguished Service Award is the highest honor given by the Jaycees and is given to a man between 21 and 35 years old for meritorious service to his family, community and country.

Mitchell, vice president of Mitchell Insurance Inc., 811 N. Main St., graduated from Sikeston High School in 1965 and in January from Southeast Missouri State University at Cape Girardeau where he majored in marketing management.

A member of the Scott County Young Democrats Club, Mitchell has served the organization as president and vice president and also is a past secretary of the Jaycees.

A second lieutenant in the Missouri Army National Guard, Mitchell also served as chairman of the United Fund drive in 1972 and is a member of the Athletic Advisory Committee of the Sikeston R-6 School District, Bootheel Regional Planning Commission recreation committee, Sikeston Association of Independent Insurance Agents, SeMo Association of Independent Insurance Agents, Missouri Association of Independent Insurance Agents and Planning and Zoning Commission advisory committee.

In 1972 he was named to Outstanding Young Men of America.

He is a member of the Peoples- Home Life Insurance Co. President's Club and Travelers Insurance Co. Regional Leaders Club, was chosen "Best- All-Around Insurance Man" by the class in the Travelers Insurance Co. School for Multi- Line Agents and was presented a certificate of merit by Travelers Insurance Co. for successfully completing the career life agent course.

He authored an article for the November 1973 issue of "Rough Notes Magazine," a national trade journal and is author of an article to be published in the April issue of "Protection" the Travelers firm's monthly magazine.

Mitchell is a member of the administrative board of the First United Methodist Church, a Sunday School teacher and coach of the Church League basketball team and is a neighborhood commissioner of the Boy Scouts which he served as Southeast Missouri sustaining membership vice chairman last year.

Mitchell, his wife Kathleen and daughter Elizabeth live at 904 Crescent Drive.

Moore, the Boss of the Year honoree, is prosecuting attorney of Scott County.

The award is given annually to the Jaycee boss who contributes the most help to Jaycee projects by allowing his employes time to work on such projects.

President will address nation on state of union

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon addresses Congress and the nation tonight on the State of the Union, and quite possibly on the Watergate crisis.

White House officials would not say flatly in advance of Nixon's 9 p.m. EDT appearance at a joint session of Congress whether Watergate- related matters would be touched upon.

However, Deputy Press Secretary Gerald L. Warren said Tuesday Nixon would discuss all issues important to the American people. And departing aide Melvin R. Laird, asked at a news conference whether Nixon could fail to talk about what the questioner termed a crisis of confidence, replied:

"I think you'll be very pleased with the content of the message."

The White House said Nixon returned to Washington by car after dark Tuesday from a five- day stay at Camp David, Md., where he reportedly spent much of his time on the State of the Union address to be broadcast live by major television- radio networks.

Senate Democratic Whip Robert C. Byrd of West Virginia said Tuesday in an interview filmed for use by public television stations that he thought Nixon could help himself by "dealing with the state of the President."

Nixon was sending Congress a lengthy, written State of the Union message in addition to his speech to Senate and House members.

Most of the President's legislative proposals represent altered versions of ones advanced in earlier years.

Perhaps his major 1974 legislative initiative is a much- revised national health insurance plan.

To be financed largely through employer- employe contributions, it would insure all Americans of basic minimum coverage as well as protection against catastrophic illnesses. It also would absorb the present Medicaid program.

The three commercial television- radio networks have promised Democrats an hour of free air time at 10 p.m. EDT Friday to respond to Nixon's address. Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana will speak for about 15 minutes, then field questions from a panel of newsmen.

Burglars open safe

About $100 was taken sometime Tuesday night or early today from a walk- in safe at Sikeston Lumber Co., 311 E. Malone Ave.

The burglars apparently opened the safe by prying off the door with a hatchet and pry bar after entering the building through a back window, police said.

Police said they are looking for a light green car which was seen parked near the lumber company about 6 a.m. today. At least two men are believed to have been involved.

The burglary was discovered by an employe shortly after 6 a.m. today.

City says Red Ball is misused

Fire Chief Larry Linnemeyer and Acting City Manager Bill Whitlock have expressed concern over the future and effectiveness of Operation Red Ball because the stickers are being misused.

The program was started in October 1973 by the fire department for the purpose of aiding firemen in saving lives by letting firemen know of the presence and location of helpless persons.

The Red Ball stickers are supposed to be placed on the window of rooms where children or invalids sleep. However, the stickers are being put up everywhere, Linnemeyer said.

He said the stickers are being put on doors and non-bedroom windows.

"Please use these stickers for their intended purpose

Backfisch gets DSA Award

DEXTER — Dennis Backfisch, 210 E. Carter St., received the Jaycee Distinguished Service Award at the annual Dexter Jaycee awards banquet Tuesday night at the Hickory Log Restaurant.

Robert Garner, Route Three, was named Boss of the Year Award winner, and Mrs. Thurston Hill was awarded the Youth Leadership Award.

Guest speaker for the event was Stoddard County Sheriff Ralph Mouser.

Backfisch, 26, a surveyor for the Missouri State Highway Department, has been a member of the Dexter Jaycees for three years. He is also a member of the civil defense team and the auxiliary police.

Garner, owner of Busy Bee Lumber Co. on One Mile Road, was nominated by R. J. Riddle, an employe. Garner was cited for assisting the Jaycees in the Haunted House project last fall and during the Dexter centennial celebration.

Mrs. Hill, 422 Chatauqua Lane, is the wife of the supreintendent of schools in Dexter and has been active in Girl Scout leadership work for many years.

Correction

It was incorrectly reported in Tuesday's Daily Standard that Harold Pace of Sikeston Route One is manager of the Running Horse Cafe at Morehouse.

Pace said his daughter owns the cafe, but he is not connected with it.

A bomb placed on the running board of Pace's pickup truck exploded about 8 p.m. Sunday while the truck was parked in front of the cafe. The explosion caused minor damage to the truck.

It's inside. . . .

Man robbed on I-55

MARSTON — A Holcomb man was robbed of $55 early today when he stopped to check the tires on his tractor- trailer truck on Interstate 55 near here.

Mickie Lee Brown, 25, a driver for Frisbee Cotton Co. of rural Holcomb, said that when he stopped about 1:55 a.m. on the interstate, a white compact car with four persons inside also stopped.

Two men got out and asked if he needed help and the other two persons believed to be women — remained in the car. One of the men had his hand in his pocket and said, "I have a gun," and demanded Brown's money. Brown gave him his billfold containing the $55, his driver's license and other personal papers. The men got back into the car and headed south on Interstate 55.

The men were described as being from 25 to 30 years old, wearing wide- brimmed hats and black leather coats. One man was about 6 feet tall, weighed about 220 pounds and had shoulder- length hair. The other man was 5 feet, 7 inches tall and weighed 150 pounds.

E BOND BUYERS, BEWARE

The annual drive is on again to persuade people to buy E bonds. Stridently pitched radio commercials extol their virtues. Government workers find their arms twisted in various subtle and not so subtle ways if they show any resistance to their "patriotic" duty.

It may, in fact, be patriotic to help bail the government out of its self- inflicted fiscal difficulties. But no one should be under the delusion that he is making a wise investment when he buys an E bond.

The current interest rate on Government E bonds is 6 per cent. But inflation has now accelerated to more than 8 per cent. Moreover, the E bond purchaser draws no interest at all if he cashes in his bond within six months. On the first year he gets only 4-1/2 per cent, and he gets his full 6 per cent only if he holds the bond the full five years to maturity. And let us not forget that when the purchaser of an E bond eventually cashes it in he must pay an income tax on his "profit." The saver will almost certainly have less purchasing power with the money he draws out of the E bond than he has with the money he originally put into it.

This is why financially "savvy" people do not buy E bonds. The rich and sophisticated know how to protect themselves against the ravages of inflation. The financially uneducated, as a rule, do not.

For example, even a very small saver, if he is at all wise in money matters, knows that he can get a minimum of 6 per cent interest today in a Savings and Loan bank and that the interest will accrue immediately with no penalty for an early withdrawal. If he is willing to commit himself for a longer period he can get correspondingly higher rates. Larger investors in today's markets can easily draw 8 per cent or more interest in various types of commercial paper.

Savers, including holders of E bonds and life insurance policies, are among those who pay the price of the continuous inflation which ravages our country and indeed the whole world. Removal of the gold reserve requirement for Federal Reserve notes (our paper money) in March 1968 removed the last barriers to continuous inflation of the nation's purchasing media. As long as a substantial gold reserve was required by law, the money- credit managers were under some restraint. Now there is none. We have fiat money pure and simple, with nothing of any value to support it. That is why the price of gold — that most basic of all standards of value — continues to soar in price. It is a barometer of the ever falling value of paper money.

E bond buyers, beware!

The male wrasse normally cruises the Great Barrier Reef with a harem of three to six females. When he dies, the most aggressive female in the harem undergoes behavioral and physiological changes that result in her transformation into a male. The zoologist who studied these fish concluded that when a female wrasse finds herself not dominated, she takes on a more aggressive behavior pattern within hours. In less than two weeks, her ovaries have turned into testicles and — in looks, action and bodily equipment — she is indistinguishable from a male. Hmm.

CONTINUED INTEREST FROM A SENATOR

Missouri's junior U. S. Senator, Thomas F. Eagleton, was in the Bootheel last week, holding two regional press conferences, attending citizen receptions and speaking to civic groups. What the Senator had to say on the nation's important issues, from the energy crisis to Watergate, has by now appeared in virtually every newspaper in Southeast Missouri and has been aired over most of the area's radio stations.

We would like to note, for the record, at least something about the Eagleton record that may have gone unnoticed by many Southeast Missourians. The reference is to Senator Eagleton's deep interest in and his acquaintanceship with the Bootheel and its citizens.

Seldom has any state official on the state level, much less one concerned with the affairs of the national legislature, demonstrated a more abiding and lasting interest in the welfare of this area than this state's junior U. S. Senator.

Perhaps Eagleton's fondness for the Bootheel started when he made his first campaign for a state-wide office back in 1960. Then he was a candidate for the Democratic nomination for Attorney General, and while his initial vote didn't exactly make the record books, the candidate caught a glimpse of the area that has not been forgotten. Through his terms as Attorney General and then Lt. Governor, Eagleton continued his interest in this area and assisted on a variety of projects from his Jefferson City office that benefited the Missouri Delta.

Eagleton's affinity for the Bootheel has been reciprocated by the voters of this area in every election since 1960. During his most important election campaign — which saw him receive the Democratic nomination for Senator against two very tough opponents — Eagleton learned first- hand just how supportive the Bootheel could be. Thanks to the majorities he received in this area, in virtually every county in Southeast Missouri, he won the Democratic nomination for Senator in 1968 and went on to win handily in the general election.

Eagleton has never forgotten that Bootheel margin, and while many politicians would have been content to tuck the Bootheel under their hip pocket and forget it, Senator Eagleton has not. During his first year in the U. S. Senate, Eagleton made more trips to the Bootheel than any section of the state, save his hometown of St. Louis. He has regularly visited this area, listening to the views and opinions of thousands of Southeast Missourians.He has said repeatedly he values the counsel he receives in this area; moreover, he responds in a positive way to that counsel.

Senator Eagleton does not belong exclusively to the Bootheel, any more than he belongs exclusively to St. Louis. In the first place, Southeast Missouri has a warm spot in its political heart for the Senior U. S. Senator from Missouri, Stuart Symington. Secondly, Senator Eagleton has extremely divergent views of all Missourians; his voting record in recent years indicates how effectively he has done just that.

We commend the Senator for his continuing interest in this area and its citizens. It would have been far easier to relegate the Bootheel to the "safely Democratic" column. That he has chosen not to forget this area means much to all Southeast Missourians.

PUBLIC EMPLOYEES DESERVE BETTER

An unusually busy 1974 is on tap across the nation, with 46 state legislatures scheduled to meet in regular or special sessions and state constitutional conventions convening in Louisiana, Texas, and New Hampshire. The only states where legislative sessions are not currently scheduled this year are Alabama, Nevada, North Dakota and Texas.

It's a foregone conclusion that union officials will be extremely active in the state capitals, attempting to: 1) Undermine existing Right to Work guarantees, and 2) Finagle passage of repressive new laws authorizing complulsory unionsim in the public sector.

Unmistakable signs indicate that legislators in dozens of states will be confronted by union- sponsored bills that would permit or mandate the forced unionization of public employees. Authority to extort "dues" and "fees" from additional state, county and municipal employees is the number one goal of union lobbyists everywhere — and they are hungry for the additional revenues it would add to their political kitties.

Already, twelve states — Alaska, Hawaii, Kentucky, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, Montana, Oregon, Rhode Island, Vermont, Washington, and Wisconsin — have legalized the forced unionization of some or all public employees within their borders. Seven of these objectionable laws were enacted only last year (and the adoption of 18 similar bills was forestalled only by the vigorous opposition of Right to Work supporters).

There is a large influential body of opinion in this country which holds that compulsory unionism in government is unconstitutional ... that it is illegal, and certainly immoral, to force any tax-payer to involuntarily pay money to a private organization in order to hold down a job with the government he supports. But the injustice doesn't end there. Compulsory unionism in government also has a long and sorry history of being a breeding ground for political favoritism, special interest palm- greasing, discrimination, and corruption. This has been the case time and time again.

A former assistant general counsel of the United Auto Workers union, Cornell Professor Kurt L. Hanslowe, stated the case against compulsory unionism in government about as well as anyone. "... the union shop in government about as well as potential of becoming a neat mutual back-scratching mechanism," he wrote, "whereby public employee representatives and politicians each reinforce the others' interest and domain, with the individual public employee and the individual citizen left to look on, while his employment conditions and his tax rate and public policies generally are being decided by entrenched and mutually supportive government officials and collective bargaining representatives over whom the public has diminishing control."

We feel the public and the government employees who serve them deserve better.

MANAGEMENT URGES LABOR TO BACK PRODUCTIVE EFFORT

A challenge to organized labor to join with management in support of national policies that will make America more productive and more competitive in world markets was issued by National Association of Manufacturers President E. Douglas Kenna.

Addressing the annual banquet meeting of the International Association of Governmental Labor Officials in Louisville, Ky. Mr. Kenna emphasized the need for labor to join with management in support of federal financial policies that will encourage capital formation and the reinvestment of capital to provide new jobs and more efficient production of goods and services.

Criticizing opposition to the seven per cent depreciation allowance on new machinery by some labor leaders, the NAM president pointed out that some of our chief competitors for world markets have an even higher degree of incentive provided by their governments. The depreciation allowance in West Germany is 17 per cent. In France and Japan manufacturers are permitted to deduct a full one-third of the cost of new machinery in the first year, he said.

Labor also was urged by Mr. Kenna to join in a united front in making American industry more productive and competitive and in urging U. S. trade negotiators to press more vigorously for the tearing down of tariffs, quotas, rigged specifications, and other hindrances to American business in foreign markets.

In citing areas where labor and management can cooperate for the good of the nation, Mr. Kenna conceded that many differences will continue, but said "such issues as minimum wage levels, compulsory unionism, fairness in collective bargaining and welfare benefits for strikers can be fought out without preventing cooperation on other issues so we can compete and survive in world markets."

Mr. Kenna also cited problem areas in which labor could join management to their mutual benefit including cooperation to urge government to adopt a realistic energy policy; to balance the need for environmental protection with the need to protect our economy; to raise working condition throughout the world and increase productivity at home; to support patent policies that encourage the rapid dissemination and application of the fruits of research and development and to develop a common interest in anti-trust policies that prevent restraint of trade, but permit the kind of cooperation between business and labor that will lead to a united front in world markets.

SKIP THE FRILLS!

As the U. S. Congressional Record celebrates its 101st birthday in March, 1974, it seems appropriate to consider the cost of this publication to the taxpayer. Parade magazine reports that publication costs for the Record are staggering. With only 4,000 paying subscribers and an annual printing bill of $7 million, the Congressional Record makes available the daily happenings, speeches, roll-call votes and favorite press articles of our Congressmen. To break it down further, expenses for printing each page come to a stunning $163. At an average of 300 pages per daily issue, that adds up to too much money in any language.

The momumental waste incurred in this endeavor is uncalled for. The Congressional Record as it stands is a typical example of bureaucratic extravagance, and many costly pages could be phased out if Congressmen would refrain from reading in their favorite recipes and anecdotes. Let's return the Record to its proper form: a faithful reproduction of Congressional proceedings -- period. The frills we will glady do without.

Zero risk in anything has never been achieved; not in flying a kite, taking a bath, or eating a hot dog. No doubt there is danger in the use of any pesticide, but there may be a larger risk in not using them, too.

In a talk before the American Medical Association, Dr. William J. Darby, president of the Nutrition Foundation discussed the line between acceptable risk and the demand for safety.

"Unwise regulatory or legislative constraints that prevent the application of scientific knowledge to increase food production and prevention of spoilage can have disastrous world consequences," he said. "We must discriminate emotion from logic, bias from objectivity, self-seekers from public- spirited persons.

He also pointed out some of the broader food production issues often ignored by those who would eliminate pesticides and food additives entirely: The major masses of population in Southeast Asia, Africa and South America are increasing faster than their food production.

In those regions, ineffective pest control and wasteful methods of harvesting are among the reasons for low yields and losses of up to 50 per cent of the harvest. (In contrast, losses are only four to five per cent in the U. S.) Because of poor nutrition and insufficient food, pellegra, kwashiorkor, anemia, starvation and goiter flourish.

Another noted scientist, Dr. R. L. Preston of the Ohio Agricultural Research and Development Center, says, "It's a paradox that at a time when food costs are soaring, additives have become the target of environmental 'purists.' Doing away with various additives in livestock production would mean increased death loss or morbidity in livestock. It would reduce total production, and increase the cost of food derived from that livestock."

SOLUTION TO LITTER MAY GIVE ANSWERS TO BASIC PROBLEMS

"If we can solve the human behavioral problem of littering, we may be able to find answers to many other social issues," Roger W. Powers, executive vice president of Keep American Beautiful, Inc., told delegates from 25 countries attending the recent Keep Europe Beautiful conference in Stockholm.

"More than a symbol of environmental ignorance, littering is a symptom of a far greater malady affecting all nations," Mr. Powers stated. "Littering is a problem that shows a person's indifference, lack of respect and even insecurity."

"How can the world hope to solve its many other environmental problems if it cannot solve a universal problem like littering?" he asked.

Littering is the result of an attitude and must be dealt with in humanistic terms so that each person is given a sense of individual responsibility, he explained.

DANGEROUS TREND

Newspaper reporters and columnists find themselves in a constant battle to keep open and available the public record, which is, after all, the public's business. We base our fight for legitimate public records on the right of the people to know and the First Amendment to the U.S. Constitution. It was alarming, therefore, when we read recently an opinion of the attorney general of the State of Texas, Mr. John Hill, that police department complaint sheets were not in the public domain and not matters for scrutiny of the press. A debate on the decision quickly ensued and the attorney general called for a review of the matter in concert with editors and lawyers.

Whatever the final decision, it is shocking to hear a high public official say that these complaints should not be laid on the line to the press. Generally, the complaint sheets are offense reports, "beefs" as the reporters refer to them. They deal with a criminal offense against humans and property. Confidential investigative information of an officer normally is written as a supplement to the original report and this is not -- and should not be -- available to a reporter unless the officer has reasons to release its contents. To this arrangement the press agrees.

Texas is not the only state with media- officialdom problems. Legislators in other areas are attempting through new statutes to correct the abuses of officials who would deny legitimate information to the public. The press is urged by this columnist to live up to its highest ideals of keeping confidential that information which would hurt police investigations. We feel that as a general rule this is done. When the men and women of good will of both sides talk over the problems that affect their coverage of the news and responsibilities of officialdom, the issues will clear to the satisfaction of all. Everyone Looks Up To Wilfred: But Who Takes a Flagpole Sitter Seriously.?

"I'm afraid you were born a generation too late for this line of work, Wilfred. People today are too lazy to bend their neck to look at a guy on a flagpole he himself is stuck out on a private flagpole of his own anyway."

"Your wife says to tell you she can't come and wave you on today, Wilfred. She's playing bridge with some friends."

"Bad news, Wilfred. We hear the World Trade Center is up to some dirty pool. We've been told they're planning to send a pretty young blonde twin up on each of the flagpoles on their two towers — one dressed topless, the other bottomless. Can you think of a quick gimmick to beat that, Wilfred? "

"You must have your dates mixed, Wilfred. According to our figures, you still have a week, six days, four hours and 29 minutes to go before setting a record. Just don't think about it — and the time will go faster."

JACK ANDERSON SAYS:

Food Shortage Possible

WASHINGTON-- The oil shortage could be compounded this year by a food shortage, because food stocks have dropped to the lowest level in 20 years.

All it would take would be minor crop failures or transportation tie- ups to cause basic foods to start disappearing from the supermarket shelves.

Agriculture Department sources have told us the nation would be in "awful shape" for food if the delicate food delivery system should be fouled up.

The supplies of corn, potatoes, peas, dried beans, canned peaches, pears and cherries have hit bottom. Cheese and butter supplies are low.

To strengthen the dollar abroad, the government has been exporting grains as fast as the farmers can grow them. Grain stocks are now so low that legislation has been introduced in the Senate to establish a national reserve system.

The meat outlook isn't much better. "A two week tie- up in the transportation system could cause serious meat shortages," an Agriculture Department expert told us. "The meat delivery system has only about a four- to- five day flexibility. After that, the shelves would start looking bare."

The few temporary shortages of 1973 have made the consumers wary. Many of them, apparently, have been stocking their pantries with canned goods. A surge in the demand for canned goods has exacerbated the tight supply situation.

not uncommon. A few weeks ago, chain stores had to rely on their own reserves for a few days because of transportation problems. A more troublesome tie- up could cause serious shortages.

What is needed, the experts say, is a national system of food delivery planning. None now exists, leaving the populace at the mercy of the fluctuating marketplace.

NIXON'S WHIPPING BOY: Speaker Carl Albert has warned his Democratic colleagues behind closed doors that President Nixon will use Congress as a "whipping boy."

Albert's warning came after House Majority Leader "Tip" O'Neill, D- Mass., finished reciting the issues confronting Congress. He neglected to mention impeachment, which brought Rep. Jerry Waldie, D-Calif., to his feet. Impeachment was "very important," protested Waldie.

Later, the Speaker told about his association with Nixon since they came to Congress together in 1947. Albert said the President "always needed a whipping boy." As a member of Congress, Nixon always blamed the President, recalled Albert. Now, said the Speaker, the president will try to blame Congress for everything that goes wrong.

The bantamweight from Oklahoma received a standing ovation.

STRANGE LOAN: The man appointed by West Virginia's Gov. Arch Moore to stave off the collapse of a $65 $26,000 personal interest in the failing firm. He is State Banking Commissioner George Jordan, who borrowed $26,000 from the Diversified Mountaineer Corp. in 1972.

While other borrowers were paying soaring interest rates, the lucky banking commissioner, who was supervising banks with intimate ties with Diversified, got a bargain six per cent loan.

Jordan confirmed to us that he had borrowed the money from a special loan portfolio kept by Diversified. He said there were rumors other West Virginia officials also had Diversified loans. But he firmly denied any conflict of interest.

Governor Moore, who appointed Jordan, has praised his excellence and expertise as a banking commissioner. 3 charged in armed robbery bound over to Circuit Court

BLOOMFIELD-- Robert Ross, 23, and Calvin Ross, 23, of St. Louis and Charles Williams, 31, of New Madrid were bound over to Circuit Court Tuesday following a preliminary hearing before Magistrate Koss W. Blomeyer.

The three men are accused of the Dec. 4 armed robbery of Johnson's Grocery and Package Liquor Store located at Routes Y and DD six miles west of Vanduser.

They are also charged with the felonious assault of store operator Sandra Kaye Midkiff, 23, and with assaulting and shooting a customer, Norris Pullen Jr., 31, of Bell City Route One.

Mrs. Midkiff testified that the three men entered the store about 2 p.m. Dec. 4 and identified Charles Williams as the man who asked her for some lunch meat. After telling him she did not sell lunch meat, she said Calvin Ross, whom she identified earlier, came around the counter with a gun in his hand and Williams told her to place her hands on the counter. Williams slapped her, she stated, and the two taped her mouth and eyes and tied her hands and feet and forced her to lie on the floor. They then struck her several times with what seemed to be whisky bottles.

While on the floor, Mrs. Midkiff said she heard the door open and someone came in. She then said she heard Williams say, "Shoot him" and she heard a shot fired.

Pullen testified that he arrived at the store at 2:10 p.m. and stopped to look at a car parked in front of the store, thinking it might belong to a friend who had been planning to buy a similar car. He noted the car had a missing front fender and a dent in the other fender.

Upon entering the store, Pullen said he was struck above the left eye and was knocked unconscious. When he regained consciousness, he said he was in the living quarters of the store with his feet and hands tied and a mattress covering him. After he managed to work his hands and feet free, he discovered he had been shot in the right leg.

He went into the store and discovered Mrs. Midkiff behind the counter and went for help.

Mrs. Midkiff said approximately $100 was taken from the cash register and another $200 was taken from her purse on the kitchen table in the living quarters.

Judge Blomeyer set bond at $5,000 each.

The three are to appear in Circuit Court Feb. 6 for formal arraignment.

4 arrested

Police today announced four arrests, including Johnny Wayne Davison, 330 Dona St., assault and battery; Betty Siars, 1203 W. Murray Lane, and Howard Lee Smith, 163 Jefferson St., allowing dog to run loose; and Freddy Wren of St. Louis, driving while intoxicated, no driver's license and improper registration.

Ann Landers

'Been There' has rules for artificial insemination hopefuls

Dear Ann Landers: This is to the woman who signed herself "Unlucky Lady" because her husband is sterile and she is considering artificial insemination. My husband is also sterile and both of our beautiful little sons were conceived by artificial insemination. I would like to give her some advice and relieve her of her doubts if I can.

1. Don't worry about the baby not looking like either of you. After all, you will be the baby's biological mother. Also, your doctor will pick a donor who looks as much like your husband as possible. If your husband is a short, stocky Italian, your doctor will not choose a donor who is a tall, blond Norwegian.

2. Don't worry about the donor not being intelligent. Your doctor will not go through the phone book picking names at random. He will more than likely choose a medical student, so the baby's biological father will have the brains to get through college and into graduate school.

3. Don't worry about strange diseases cropping up in your baby. My doctor told me all of his donors were married medical students who had fathered at least two normal, healthy children. Your doctor, I'm sure, will choose your donor just as carefully.

4. Take Ann Landers's advice; resist the urge to confide in ANYONE.

The rewards are tremendsous. You will have a normal, happy pregnancy. Your husband will be the father of your baby. His name will be on your baby's birth certificate. He will be as much your baby's father as you will be his mother. Forget everything else, and good luck to both of you. I hope you won't have a long wait for the little one you both must want so much. Just sign me-- Been There

Dear B. T.: Thanks for a day- brightener. Your letter will mean a great deal to a great many.

Dear Ann Landers: I'd like to say a word to that big mouth who signed himself, "Irked in Springfield."

I work in a grocery store and make the magnificent sum of $1.65 an hour. I work Christmas, Easter, Thanksgiving and New Year's Day. Lovely, isn't it? As for his gripe that most cashiers aren't very polite, let me tell you that more than half of the customers are miserable. As a matter of fact, most people are rotten to the core.

How can a cashier be polite when a guy comes in loaded, throws a case of bottled beer on your cash register and breaks the case? Then you have to smell the stuff all night.

Today two guys gave me fives and insisted they were twenties. That trick is so old you'd think they'd be ashamed to pull it, but I get at least four of those creeps a week.

I live for the day when everything will be automatic and salespeople with be obsolete. You'll put your money in a machine and out will come the merchandise. Wouldn't that be great?--Down-With Humanity

Dear Down: If ever a person was poorly suited to his job, you are. For the sake of the store and the customers, as well as your own, you should get into another line of work--like maybe ice fishing in Alaska.

Confidential To Can't Stand Your Double- Domed Bull- Headedness: I hate to lose a reader but I think you ought to skip my column and go right to the comics. There's nothing here for you.

Even if drinking is the "in" thing in your crowd, it needn't crowd you out. Learn the facts from Ann Landers's booklet, "Booze and You- For Teen-Agers Only." Send 35c in coin and a long, self- addressed, stamped envelope to Ann Landers, P. O. Box 3346, Chicago, Illinois 60654.

Kilgore stated that the invalid sticker should be used for any person whose physical disability could delay escape in case of a home fire. He sighted the deaf, blind, those unable to descend stairs and the bedridden.

Several in the group volunteered to distribute decals in their neighborhoods and indicated they would attend the organizational meeting for volunteers Wednesday at 7 p.m. in First Christian Church.

CAPE GIRARDEAU — Twenty- two paintings by 16 women artists will go on display Friday in the Art-Home Economics Building at Southeast Missouri State University.

The boss grumps that he wished we'd watch our work less carefully and do more of it.

Mr. and Mrs. Davey McDowell

ESSEX — Apostolic Church of Essex was the scene Jan. 20 for the wedding of Miss Debbie Jean Petigo, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Petigo of Vanduser, and Davey McDowell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Coy McDowell of Sikeston. The Rev. John Tucker officiated at the 1 p.m. double- ring ceremony.

Miss Carolyn Morgan of Essex was pianist and played the traditional march.

The bride was escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her father. She wore a floor- length white satin gown with chapel-length train of satin fastened at the back waistline with a large satin bow. The gown had a rounded neckline. The bodice was adorned with silk organza lace and seed pearls. The dress was designed with an empire waistline and three- quarter length sleeves.

The bride's elbow- length veil of silk illusion was secured by a crown of seed pearls and silk organza lace. She carried a bouquet of large white mums trimmed with blue baby's breath secured on a blue silk lace handkerchief with blue streamers.

Maid of honor was Miss Patricia Petigo of Vanduser, sister of the bride. She wore a white silk and lace dress with sheer puffed sleeves and fitted cuffs of royal blue velvet. A band of the velvet also formed the waistline and neckline of the dress. She carried a bouquet of white and blue violets secured with royal blue velvet streamers.

The groom wore a royal blue suit with medium blue shirt and white tie.

Best man was his brother, Barry McDowell of Sikeston. He wore a royal blue coat and medium blue shirt with a royal blue tie.

The mother of the bride chose a street- length A-line, long- sleeved dress of medium and light blue with white accessories. The groom's mother wore a street- length dress of royal blue velvet with long butterfly sleeves. The neckline and sleeves were trimmed in silver and she wore silver accessories.

A reception dinner was held at the Essex school cafeteria. Tables were covered with white table clothes with silver wedding bells and napkins to match.

The large three- tiered cake, which centered the table, was trimmed in blue. It was flanked on either side with two large punch bowls filled with green and red punch.

Aretta Tucker, Wanda Morgan, Faye Autrey, Carrie Denton, Juanita Barber, Mrs. Tom Pullum and Ruby Malloy of Essex served wedding cake to guests.

Miss Petigo was honored with two bridal showers prior to the wedding. One was held in Sikeston and hosted by Mrs. Bill McDowell, aunt of the groom. The other, hosted by Mrs. Autrey, was held in Essex.

Doll house is created by hand

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Polly Keener's three-story house has crystal chandeliers, gold leaf picture frames on its walls, hand-worked planking for its floors and an ancestor's picture — all in miniature.

It's an elaborate doll house Mrs. Keener made to help the Women's Board of Akron General Medical Center raise funds for the hospital. It brought $450 in that auction, but Mrs. Keener's father, George Leonard, did the high bidding and gave the house back to his daughter.

Mrs. Kenner followed no plans but drew freely from homes she loves. The stairway with its curved railing is a copy of one in her own house, for instance.

She built in a closet beneath the staircase because, she said, "I remember how much fun it was to hide in those little closets when I was a child."

When she discovered that crystal chandeliers for doll houses could cost $150, she used crystal beads from jewelry counters and made her own chandeliers. For candles, she rolled tiny paper scrolls, coated them with wax and added fake wicks.

Reproductions of oil paintings from museum catalogs adorn the doll house walls, in gold leaf frames she carved and finished herself.

"I cut up a petit point purse to make the rugs," says Mrs. Keener, "and took a locket-sized picture of my great-grandfather to put in its easel frame on a table in the library."

a tiny doll house in the nursery," Mrs. Keener says. "There is even a tinier doll house in the nursery doll house."

She carved all of the planking in the house, finishing the floors in mahogany. She paneled the library, using precarved lumber yard supplies for the wainscoting. The house is 40 inches high, 36 inches wide and 12 inches deep.

She made all the books for the library, though only one — "the hardest to do" — has pages.

Martindales will be honored at reception

Mr. and Mrs. James Martindale, 410 Hux, will be honored at an open house Sunday from 2 to 4 p.m. in observance of their 25th wedding anniversary at the home of Mrs. Martindale's sister and brother- in- law, Mr. and Mrs. Connie Mac Sells in Matthews.

The Martindales were married Feb. 3, 1949.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

THIS COUNTRY OF OURS
IS CALLED
"AMERICA"

It is supposed to be a beautiful place in which to live

Today, it is very ugly and "WE" made it just that way. All we hear about are ugly findings and we haven't helped by spreading them all around.

There seems to be a crisis in every single thing we have. Things will never get any better if we don't wake up to help ourselves
If the blame lies on anyone, it has got to be all of us.

How many of us take out the time to even pray that our leader will find the answer?

He needs us, we need him, we need our country, and I truly believe only one man can help us now.

No, it's not the President
But lets give a little consideration to the man above us all.
Why impeach President Nixon?
Why not impeach all of us?
We're all responsible.
Why not impeach Congress?
Why not impeach those in control of Big Business?
Why not just impeach the whole country if that's where everyone thinks the answer is at.

I think the answer lies within each and every one of "US"
Let's stand together and help our President get us back on our feet. Aren't we all a little tired of Laying on our backs?

Dear Editor:

Beware of Senate Bill S. 2686!

This legislation would establish a Legal Services Corporation funded by taxpayers' money. It would reach into every individual citizen's own personal credibility! It would make each individual Senator and Congressman liable for any misconduct of his employees right down to the lowest staff member. If enacted, this legislation would destroy our Police Department; it would affect every segment of our government and every businessman.

Urge your Senators to oppose any legislation such as S. 2686.

Sincerely,
C. C. Moseley, Pres.
Grand Central Industrial Centre, Glendale, Calif.

Dear Mr. Blanton,

I'm the Humane officer's wife and I am very thankful for all the nice compliments he is receiving, I too think he is a wonderful Humane Officer. I never thought he would make one because he never seemed to care for animals, my children and myself were the same way. Now, we have love for these kind animals, more so since we've had "Cookie" she is so dear to us. It will be very hard to give her up we are so attached to her, would you please print this letter and here is a letter from "Cookies" owner to us. Thank you very much.

Mrs. Bobby Beardsley

Dear Mrs. & Mr. Beardsley,

I'm so thankful to you and your family that I just don't know what else to say. It was so thoughtful for you to send me the article about Cookie. It was all well said and done.

It's a comfort that Cookie does not constitute another concern right now, because you've both shown me that she has been in good hands and that I have nothing to worry about. In a way, I'm glad "Cookie" was lost for a time, for because of this fact I have felt the presence of some lovely people, I am indebted to you.

With Love
David Jackson

Rabbitt opposes statewide port authority bill

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Missouri House Speaker Richard Rabbitt, D-St. Louis, Tuesday opposed a bill supported by the governor to set up a statewide port authority.

The House Local Government Committee heard testimony on three bills concerning creation of Port authorities but delayed action on them.

Rabbitt said the bill that Gov. Christopher S. Bond favors goes against attempts to consolidate government. "It seems like we're seeting up another layer of government," he said.

Rabbitt said the big need in the St. Louis area was to expand industry "if we bring industry to Missouri the ports are going to develop around industry," he said.

Rabbitt supported a bill by Rep. Buddy Kay, D-St. Louis, that would provide enabling legislation for St. Louis to create its own port authority. The bill was also supported by some industry spokesmen.

The bill favored by Gov. Christopher S. Bond is sponsored by Rep. Al Mueller, D-St. Louis, Charles Valier, an aide to Bond, said there was need for overall planning for development of ports in the state.

Valier said Mueller's bill would provide bonding powers, a referee system for disputes and ability to get federal funds. "You need broader authority than a city or county to establish a port," he said.

Matt Abboud, a spokesman for the Teamsters Union in St. Louis, supported a bill sponsored by Reps. Dan O'Toole, D-Florissant, and George Murray, R-Creve Coeur. It would allow St. Louis to create a port authority with appointment of board members by the mayor and approval by the board of aldermen. Abboud said politics and parochialism have prevented growth of the St. Louis Port, which he said clings to its No. 1 position as an inland port "only by a whisker."

Abboud charged there is favoritism to special interests at the St. Louis Port. "Sweetheart contracts on the riverfront are stopping progress," he said.

A. J. Wilson, assistant to St. Louis Mayor John Poelker, offered a substitute version for the bills sponsored by O'Toole and Mueller. He said the city wanted to have control over whatever port is established, rather than have it be a special district. Wilson also gave qualified support for Kay's bill, saying "we support the the enabling approach ... we need state backing for out local effort."

Sikeston youth nominated for Naval Academy

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Hugh K. Norton, son of Dan Norton of Sikeston, Mo., and Mrs. Mary Marshall of Waterloo, Ill., has been nominated by Missouri 10th District Rep. Bill D. Burlison for appointment to U.S. Naval Academy classes beginning this summer at Annapolis, Md.

Burlison noted that he took into consideration each candidate's class scholastic standing, test scores and evaluations by a 10th District Advisory Committee based on interviews with the candidates.

Other principal nominees named by Burlison are:

George M. Walters of Jackson, U. S. Air Force Academy at Colorado Springs, Colo.; Alvis Wheatley of Kennett and Douglas W. Salzmann of Jackson, U.S. Military Academy at West Point, N.Y.; John E. Miesner of Brazeau and Thomas L. Wright of Doniphan, U.S. Naval Academy at Annapolis, Md.; Robert Walley, Jr., of Fredericktown and Cloyd E. Nickless of Pevely, U. S. Merchant Marine Academy at Kings Point, Long Island, N.Y.

Burlison noted that a principal nominee is sometimes disqualified, leaving the position open for an alternate.

Among first alternates chosen were:

Ralph L. White of Portageville, Air Force Academy; Jerry W. Richey of Dexter, U.S. Military Academy; and David M. Taylor of Steele, Naval Academy.

Among other alternates are: Christian A. Bourgeacq of Bell City, George R. Estes of Sikeston, James E. Long of Dexter, William C. Roper of Kennett and Howard R. Weaver of Steele.

The advisory committee which aided Burlison in screening nominees is composed of Lonnie Kinchen of Kennett, Charles Blanton III of Sikeston, Donald Gillihan of Farmington, Robert Dodson of Crystal City and Don Bedell of Poplar Bluff.

ew coach speaks at DSA banquet

Jim Lohr

Jim Lohr, new head football coach at Southeast Missouri State University, was guest speaker at the annual Jaycee Distinguished Service Award banquet Tuesday night at Sikeston Country Club.

Lohr, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Loren L. Lohr of 701 Hunter St., Sikeston, became the ninth head football coach in the 100-year history of Southeast Missouri State last month.

"If I am going to be a success as a football coach for SeMo University, it will be because of my friendship with Eddie Moss", Lohr said of the St. Louis Cardinal running back who was also a guest at the banquet.

Lohr, who coached Moss at Poplar Bluff High School, said his friendship with the Moss family was one of the most important factors in his career as a coach.

Lohr focused his remarks on respect. "Football players, in order to be a success, have to learn to love one another like brothers," Lohr said.

He said respect is one thing he wants his teams to know the meaning of, and if they are to continue to be a part of his athletic program, they must not only understand this but also believe in it.

Lohr said football players must learn to cope with one another, regardless of race or religion. "A lot of students who come to campus have never associated with black students," Lohr said.

"The most important thing a man can do is be a service to his community, and I want to teach my boys in football that it was a better team because they played on it," he remarked.

Moss spoke a few minutes after Lohr had finished and answered questions from the audience about the National Football League and the football Cardinals.

Thieves strike vending company

An undetermined amount of money and cigarettes have been reported stolen from Littleton's Vending Co., 825 S. Main St., police said today.

The theft was discovered Monday. The thieves entered the building through a window, police said.

Thieves also forced open a door to the W. C. Thompson home, 102 Applegate St., sometime between Jan. 21 and Tuesday, police said.

The thieves ransacked the house, apparently looking for money, but nothing was taken, according to police.

Senate sends energy bill back

WASHINGTON (AP) — Controversy over oil industry profits appears to have killed the emergency energy bill that Congress wrestled with for two months.

The Senate voted Tuesday to send the measure back to conference with the House in an effort to remove an excess profits provision that critics claimed was unworkable and probably unconstitutional.

The move to recommit had received the endorsement of President Nixon, who wrote Senate Minority Leader Hugh Scott that it "would be most unfortunate" if Congress approved the energy bill in its present form.

But both House and Senate leaders of the conference indicated there was little chance the conferees would reconsider the bill. The White House has said it needs the legislation before it can order gasoline rationing and other mandatory energy conservation measures.

"It's all in a shambles now," Senate Interior Committee Chairman Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., said. House Commerce Committee Chairman Harley O. Staggers, D-W. Va., agreed that the Senate vote probably would kill the bill.

"The administration is going to rue this day," Jackson said, explaining that without the bill the President would have to declare a national emergency before he could order rationing.

A source in the Federal Energy Office said gasoline rationing is a strong likelihood this summer if the Arab oil embargo continues.

Jackson also argued that the Senate's refusal to approve the excess profits measure in the bill would make the oil industry "more difficult, more belligerent. The industry must be glowing," Jackson said after the vote.

Sen. Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis., sponsor of the motion to recommit, argued that most of the bill's noncontroversial provisions, including rationing, could be attached to other measures.

The bill was recommitted by a vote of 57-37, with Republicans and oil state senators who prevented passage of the measure before Christmas being joined by Nelson and other liberal Democrats, including George McGovern, D-S.D., and Walter F. Mondale, D-Minn.

In other developments:

—Three oil companies announced substantial earnings increases for 1973. Phillips Petroleum Co. said earnings in the fourth quarter of 1973 more than doubled those of the same period in 1972. Sun Oil Co. announced a 59 per cent increase in earnings during the fourth quarter. And Marathon Oil Co. said its operating income for 1973 increased 62 per cent.

—A Senate Foreign Relations subcommittee is opening hearings on the foreign policy influence of multinational oil companies.

—Federal energy chief William E. Simon warned the American people that "scarce high cost energy will be the rule for many years if not indefinitely." He called for "a new energy ethic — a war on waste."

—The American Automobile Association said gasoline appears to be about as available this week as it was last week. What end-of-month shortages there are seem to be hitting metropolitan centers hardest, the AAA said.

Occasion was an all Arlen concert given by pianist Marian McPartland and her trio at Michael's Pub. Miss King sang some of the songs presented, including "Ac-cent-tchu-ate the Positive," with lyrics by Johnny Mercer; "Down with Love," lyrics by E. Y. (Yip) Harburg; "Ill Wind," by lyricist Ted Koehler; "The Man that Got Away," lyricist Ira Gershwin. Arlen's "chief collaborators" also include Lew Brown, Leo Robin, Ralph Blane, Dorothy Fields, Truman Capote, Dory

Ordinance will make new ward boundries

MALDEN — The City Council passed an ordinance Monday night to establish new boundary lines in the city's voting wards.

Shirley Deal was hired to pull the file cards of all voters affected by the ward changes; make necessary corrections and mail new cards to affected voters.

Ron Woburn, a Bootheel Regional Planning Commission representative, spoke about possible violations in the new zoning ordinance. A meeting will be held to make necessary corrections prior to calling of a public hearing.

The council voted to remove all parking meters from the downtown area on a 60-day trial basis in an effort to improve downtown shopping. If no difference is apparent at the end of the 60-day period, the meters will be reinstalled.

In other business, the building committee was authorized to inspect the city hall for possible repairs or remodeling. The equipment committee was authorized to seek bids on new police cars.

The insurance committee is to meet Thursday and review the present insurance plan for the city. The committee will seek bids for a new insurance plan in April.

City auditor Jack Chancey, informed the council that he is going out of business and asked the council to turn its files over to another firm. The council asked for more time to study the matter.

Violators can be punished with up to $1,000 fines and six months in prison.

The director of the Cleveland Office of Consumer Affairs, Herman Kammerman, said that the only previous guidelines were voluntary codes established by the Better Business Bureau and the Clevelanc Advertising Club.

NEW YORK (AP) — The ardent Noel Coward fan has a new way to commemorate Sir Noel — wear a perfume named in his honor. Stanley Hall, who is known in theatrical circles, has announced the introduction of three new fragrances, each named after a Noel Coward play, "Blithe Spirit," "Easy Virtue" and "Conversation Piece." The perfumes were created by PPL, a British fragrance supplier, and are available from Hall's shop.

They are worn by both sexes.

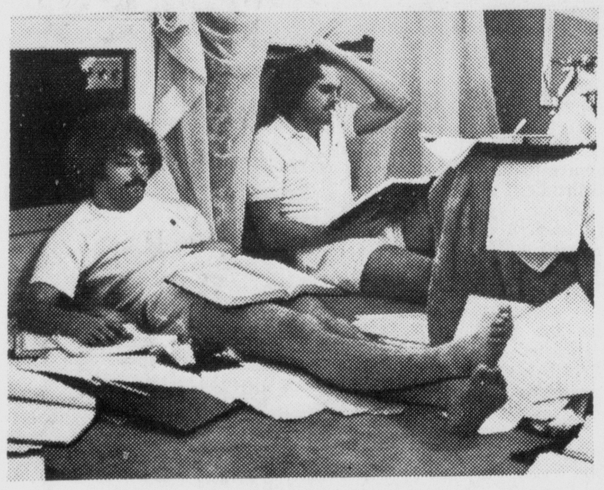
'Paper Chase' opens Friday at Mall Theatre

"The Paper Chase", a contemporary comedy- drama about a group of freshmen law students at Harvard, premieres Friday at Mall Theatre in Kingsway Plaza Mall.



Directed by James Bridges and starring Timothy Bottoms, Lindsay Wagner, John Houseman, Graham Beckel and James Naughton, "The Paper Chase" is based upon a novel by John Jay Osborn Jr. and was produced by Robert C. Thompson and Rodrick Paul.

"The Paper Chase" unites some of the most acclaimed young talent in motion pictures today, including Bottoms, star of "The Last Picture Show"; Bridges, who directed "The Baby Maker", and cinematographer Gordon Willis, the man behind the camera on "The Godfather".

Houseman, producer, director and head of the drama division of the Juillard School at Lincoln Center in New York, marks his first major appearance as a film actor in "The Paper Chase", playing a tough Harvard law professor.

Miss Wagner, who plays Houseman's rebellious daughter and Bottoms' lover, makes her second film appearance in "The Paper Chase". In 1971, she starred with Peter Fonda in Robert Wise's "Two People".

Beckel, a newcomer to films, leads the contingent of New York, Broadway and off-Broadway actors who form the cast of "The Paper Chase". Beckel was in the Broadway success, "Sticks and Bones", when scouted for the film.

Other stage recruits include Naughton, who scored in the recent off- Broadway production of Eugene O'Neill's "Long Day's Journey into Night", and Ed Herrmann, Craig Richard Nelson, David Clennon and Bob Lydiard.

The film was shot on location in Cambridge, Mass., and Toronto, Canada.

Preparing for exams

IRS urges early filing

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Internal Revenue Service officials are urging Missouri taxpayers to file tax returns early to speed refunds.

A. W. McCanless, IRS district director, said the agency is preparing to issue about 60 million refunds, including about 1,350,000 in Missouri.

Taxpayers who file returns in January can usually expect their refunds in four to five weeks, McCanless said. Refunds for late filers take from six to eight weeks, he said.

One reason for the delay is that work piles up at the service center in Kansas City where returns are processed, McCanless explained.

Chaneys win

Christian arts council decides on new name

CAPE GIRARDEAU— Arts and Recreation Council of Cape Girardeau, Inc. was voted as the new name for the Christian Arts Council of Cape Girardeau, Inc. when the members met recently at the Flaming Pit for luncheon and a business meeting.

The new name was proposed by the board of directors and presented to the membership for a vote because the organization, which promotes craftsmen and artists, is enlarging its scope of activities to meet the increased demands of the membership in Cape Girardeau, southeast Missouri, southern Illinois and the northwestern area of Kentucky.

Organized in 1961 the council sponsored its first public events in 1963. Craft shows have been a regular feature of the organization, as well as bazaars at which craftsmen have presented their work for public viewing and sale. Musical events and plays have been sponsored for public enjoyment. Creative writing and poetry workshops and Christmas card contests also have been held.

Otto F. Dingeldein, president and charter member of the council, explained that the $5,000 grant received from the National Endowment for the Arts was the first such grant given in the country to an organization for administrative and expansion purposes and it was given because of the council's achievements and assistance to area artists and craftsmen.

Dingeldein said a prospectus of the arts is being prepared by Mrs. Dingeldein to supply information for craftsmen and artists as well as the general public.

Additional information about this phase of the council's work will be announced later.

Dates for the annual spring craft show were announced by chairman Carroll Snead as Apr. 6 from 1 to 8 p.m., and Apr. 7, from 1 to 6 p.m. at the Arena Building.

Craftsmen may obtain information and make arrangements for display space by contacting Snead, in care of the Arts & Recreation Council of Cape Girardeau, Inc., Box 606, Cape Girardeau, Mo. 63701. Craftsmen from Missouri, Illinois, Kentucky and Tennessee will display their work at the show.

Dr. Dan Cotner, chairman of music, announced that the annual recital of private music pupils selected by local instructors will be presented Feb. 24 at First Baptist Church at 2 p.m. Information regarding the event may be obtained by contacting Dr. Cotner.

Mrs. James H. Tilley, chairman of Children's Theatre said the play, "Winnie the Pooh" will be presented by a children's cast at the Cape Central High School auditorium at 7:30 p.m. March 8 and March 9 at 2 p.m.

A spring poetry workshop is being conducted by Mrs. Howard Bock and craft classes are being organized in Jackson by Mrs. Lee G. Cochran. Joseph H. Quatmann is general chairman of craft classes.

Mustangs romp past LHS

WARDELL--- The North Pemiscot Mustangs avenged an earlier two point loss to the Lilbourn Panthers with a convincing 72- 57 victory here Tuesday night over the Daily Standard's number one team.

Outside the first period of play the Panthers were outplayed in the entire game as the Mustang zone defense forced the panthers outside and Lilbourn had trouble finding the hole in the bucket.

Coach Don McMahon, coach of the Mustangs, felt that his team is improving since the first of the year and thinks his Mustangs can beat the Panthers again if necessary.

The Mustangs held the high scoring machine of the Panthers in check throughout the contest as Ernest McFerren was high for the Panthers with 14 points.

Lilbourn is 20- 2 and NPHS is 13- 6. The Mustangs hit 16 free shots with 12 coming in the last four minutes of the game.

After a cold shooting first period by both teams with Lilbourn leading 12- 9 the Mustangs found the range and forged ahead 30- 28 at the half. Lilbourn came back and had the score tied at the end of the third quarter but the Panthers' shooting went cold and the Mustangs hit 25 points to 11 for Lilbourn.

Lilbourn had to foul in the last minutes of the game as NP had the lead and the ball.

It was a victorious night for the Mustangs altogether as NP won the B game 55-44. Robert Blackman hit 23 for NPHS and Treadwell hit 17 for Lilbourn. NPHS is 13-3 for the year and Lilbourn is 15- 2.

Dogs fail to stop Nelson, Mize

JACKSON-- The Sikeston Bulldogs saw their season's record drop to 5- 9 here Tuesday night as they dropped an error- filled 86- 63 decision to the Jackson Indians. The SHS SeMo conference record now stands at 1- 2.

Before the game Sikeston's head coach N. P. McDaniel remarked that Jackson was a team which was led by two individuals. "If we stop those two," the veteran coach said, "We'll play them a good game."

Well, Sikeston didn't appear to have anyone equal to the task. The two, Kent Nelson and John Mize, riddled the Sikeston defense for 50 points combined. Nelson scored 28.

Jackson led all the way in the contest. They jumped to an early lead of 21- 6, before Sikeston began to hit. The Dogs ran off eight straight points to trail 21- 14, then narrowed the gap to 23- 18. But, five points was as close as they got all night long.

Even in victory the Indians were sloppy. Their 26 turnovers were three more than Sikeston committeed. But, the Indians hit 32 of 76 shots for a respectable 42 percent mark, a percentage boosted by the numerous "snowbird" baskets Nelson was able to mark up, outrunning the Sikeston guards down the court. Sikeston, meanwhile, hit just 23 of 81 for 28 percent, their lowest of the year.

Bowman scored 20 points, most of them from the free throw line, to lead Sikeston. Vangalee West followed with 16.

Nelson led Jackson scorers. Mize scored his 22 points on just 14 floor shots. Terry Gohn was the other Indian in double figures with ten points. The big pivotman led all rebounders with an even dozen, despite sitting out nearly half the game.

In the preliminary contest, the Sikeston jayvees grabbed a come- from- behind 57- 53 win. The victory ran their conference mark to 3- 0.

'Too Little' top choice

NEW YORK (AP) — To the surprise of practically nobody, the Dallas Cowboys drafted Tennessee State's Ed Jones — and with an equal amount of surprise, the big defensive lineman's first play was to throw the World Football League for a bit of a loss.

The tension was nonexistent Tuesday as Commissioner Pete Rozelle called the National Football League's annual body count — the draft — to order. Houston had the worst record last season — but Dallas, thanks to a trade, had the Oilers' first-round pick, mainly No. 1.

"There was never any question about him being No. 1," Cowboys' scouting chief Gil Brandt said in Dallas, moments after he'd directed the team's representatives on the phone in New York to write Jones' name on the draft card.

The Detroit team of the infant WFL had written Jones' name on its card a week ago — although it obviously figured it was just going through the motions. The WFL didn't go for him until the end of the third round. And Jones made it pretty obvious that he didn't go for the WFL.

"I prefer to play in the NFL," the 6-foot-9, 260-pounder nicknamed "Too Tall" said at a news conference in Dallas moments after his name had kicked off the draft. In fact, he'll be the tallest lineman in the NFL next season. And there's little doubt that he'll be on the line when the campaign begins.

After Jones was picked, the drama picked up just a bit — but not the tempo. It took 3¾ hours for the 26 selections of Round One to be made, the longest it's taken since the 4:16 of the first NFL-AFL combined draft of 1967.

The first day's action didn't end until 9:02 p.m. with the completion of the fifth round. That left 12 rounds — 312 of the 442 players up for grabs — for today.

Running backs accounted for a high 23 of the 75 offensive players taken Tuesday and San Diego took the first of them. The Chargers, No. 2 in the order, went for Colorado's 228-pound Bo Matthews. The New York Giants, whose 2-11-1 record equalled San Diego's but who lost the coin flip for the chance to go No. 2, didn't lose anything.

Hawks remain unbeaten in SMC

BENTON--- The Kelly Hawks and the Delta Bobcats struggled through a defensive battle here Tuesday night with the Hawks coming out on top 66- 49 to give the Hawks a 4- 0 record in Scott-Mississippi conference play and 16- 2 overall.

The game was rather loosely played as the officials called only 21 fouls in the game against both teams. Kelly received 13 whistles stoppers and Delta came out with only eight against them.

"It was a very poorly played game", commented coach Nick Lanpher referring to his Hawks.

Kelly played a good defensive game but was unable to move the ball properly on offense.

The Hawks started well as coach Lanphers team took a 20- 14 first period lead but the playing became rather shaggy in the second period as neither team could do much as far as ball handling was concerned and Delta stayed within two points of the Hawks in the second period and trailed Kelly 32- 24 at the intermission.

The second half found both teams taking up where they left in the first half as turnovers dominated the third quarter as Kelly managed to outscore the smaller but scrappy Bobcats 11- 8.

Coach Lanpher kept shuffling in substitutes all during the game as some of his starters had difficulty following his directions.

Russ Mothershead had a hot first half and ended the game with 24 points. Troy Martin hit 18 for the Bobcats high game honors.

Delta shot a terrific percentage in the first half of the B game and whipped the Hawks handily 61- 49. Cook hit 16 for Delta and Ron Schlosser hit 16 for the Hawks.

Premium ride without premium gas!

Today a premium ride is not enough. You also need a car you can afford to run. And for 1974 Mercury Marquis is designed to be that kind of car. It uses regular fuel. Its standard steel-belted radials give thousands of extra miles of tread wear over non-radials. And a '74 Mercury is designed to save you an estimated average of 26% on scheduled maintenance costs when compared to a '73 Mercury in 50,000 miles of normal driving. That's due to innovations like solid state ignition. So you see, a premium ride is just not enough. Unless it comes in a car you can afford to operate. We invite you to come drive the Mercury Marquis for 1974—the premium ride that uses regular gas!

Cleaning up

Boy Scouts from Troop 41 were busy this weekend with a father and son campout at Lake Wappapello. While at the site the boys picked up trash along the lake's edges. From 1807 to 1822, Portuguese king John VI and his family ruled the kingdom of Portugal. But during that time, the king never touched foot in the country; he was living in Brazil!

Campout held by Troop 41

Boy Scout Troop 41 of Sikeston sponsored a father and son campout this weekend at the Senior Scout Base at Lake Wappapello. Twenty- one scouts and 11 fathers attended.

Twelve boys advanced to the next progress award while at the weekend retreat. All of the requirements for 25 skill awards were also completed by different scouts.

A service project for the camp was completed, and scouts walked around the lake picking up several bags of trash.

Troop 41 is sponsored by the Sikeston Kiwanis Club.

Frankly speaking

Rising propane gas prices bring many complaints

By SEN. THOMAS EAGLETON

WASHINGTON — The price of propane gas has risen to unconscionable and intolerable levels. In some cases the increase has been as much as 300 per cent in one year's time.

None of the usual arguments advanced to justify higher prices for other fuels apply in the case of propane.

Higher prices will not lead to increased production because propane is principally a byproduct of natural gas, which remains under tight price controls. Trying to induce greater propane production through price under those circumstances is like trying to wag the dog with his tail.

Nor will higher prices lead to decreased demand for propane except at an horrendous cost in human suffering. Propane is heavily used in rural and low income areas where it is the basic fuel for home heating and cooking. These are things people can't do without.

The only thing these price increases will do is to make rich men out of a few producers and a few brokers who bought up substantial amounts of propane at cheap prices and are now unloading it at whatever the market will bear.

This is a matter of urgent concern to me since Missouri is the second largest user of propane in the nation. I have called on Federal Energy Administrator William Simon to undertake an immediate review of the situation. I believe these prices should be rolled back and kept frozen unless and until the companies involved can document and justify an increase.

I am attaching to this statement a copy of my telegram to Mr. Simon and a sampling of the many letters I have received from constituents which explain better than I can the hardships created by these price increases.

Mr. William E. Simon
Administrator
Federal Energy Office
Washington, D.C. 20461

In recent weeks my office has received numerous complaints about sharply increased prices of propane-- in some cases increases of 300 per cent in the space of one year.

I have heard it argued by administration spokesmen that higher prices for petroleum products will serve as an incentive to increased production and at the same time will help to discourage consumption. Whatever merit there may be in that general argument, I do not believe it applies at all in the case of propane.

As you know, most propane is produced as a byproduct of natural gas the price of which is tightly controlled by the Federal Power Commission. No increase in the price of propane could possibly result in expanded production unless or until natural gas production is also expanded.

With regard to consumption, I would emphasize the great differences between propane and such other fuels as gasoline. While it may be possible for individuals to forego a vacation trip or to carpool in response to an increase in gasoline prices, those options are not open for the most part to the users of propane. A study would show that propane is most heavily used in rural and low- income areas, almost exclusively for heating homes and cooking. These are not things one does without very easily.

The net result of increased prices of propane has not been to spur production of the product nor to make any significant impact on demand. Rather it has been to put enormous inflationary burdens on the very families who can least afford it.

This is a matter of urgent concern and I am requesting your office to conduct an immediate review of these price increases and to take the appropriate steps to correct the situation.

Please advise my office at your earliest convenience of any actions taken.

Sincerely,
Thomas F. Eagleton
United States Senator

Dear Senator,

I am writing you in regard to rising fuel prices. I am a widow, trying to live on Social Security in a small community. I use gas for heating and the price has risen to the point where I cannot afford to keep my small home warm and I am 74 years old. My aching bones are getting me down. When is this going to end? Surely there is something that can be done about it?

I am appealing to you for help. Surely the government can stop these rising prices. Thank you for at least reading this letter and I have faith in such men as you seeing that something is done.

Constituent
Branson, Missouri

Dear Senator Eagleton:

I am writing to you for some help. We use propane gas to heat our small 3 room house. We live in one room to save gas because of price. It is doubled to what it was a year ago. Year ago was 16.9 cents a gallon. This past December 18, 1973 was 30 cents a gallon. January 16, 1974, 35 cents a gallon. I am on a fixed income. No Social Security. I retired from Sedalia, Missouri Fire Department in 1958. All the Fireman's pension I receive is $175.00 a month. My veterans is $105.54.

My wife and I live on this to buy medicine, pay the doctor and all rest out of my small pension. I was hoping you could or would help lower propane gas where poor people can buy it. Thermostat set at 68 degrees. Wood is too high. No stove. Thanks.

Constituent
Edwards, Missouri

Dear Senator Eagleton:

We are writing you to see if it is possible for you to inquire into the raising price of bottle gas to heat homes. We don't have our book to show how much the gas was a year ago, but we think it was around eleven or fourteen cents a gallon. We just received a letter saying it was going to thirty- four cents a gallon on receipt of the letter, this must be something like a 300 per cent increase in one year.

Would appreciate anything you can do to help in this case as this heating gas increase is really going to hurt as cold as it has been around here this last month or so.

Constituent
St. Joseph, Missouri

Dear Senator Eagleton:

I am writing you concerning the price of propane gas. Within the past 12 months, the price of this fuel has risen from 12 cents to 36 cents a gallon. I live in a mobile home in a trailer park that offers only propane gas for heating and cooking purposes. Although we have been practicing significant fuel saving measures our monthly propane gas bills are $40-$50 per month as opposed to $10-$20 per month one year ago.

Can you tell me why no ceiling prices have been placed on propane gas when such limits have been placed on virtually every type of fuel? Paying the current prices is producing a TRUE economic hardship for my family. Is there any way you can get these prices lowered? I, and the many neighbors I have discussed this problem with are quite anxious to know your views on this problem.

Constituent
Columbia, Missouri

Dear Sir:

We have just payed a 2-month gas bill (propane) for $145.02. Our furnace is set at 65 degrees and we have been cold all winter. Now we're broke too! With 3 months to go. Please look into the Gas company's making a profit at public's expense. This company is taking new customers and selling all it can. We do not make enough money to pay such a bill. I could cry! It is very hard for us. Please do what you can about this...

A grain elevator and a cotton gin owned and operated by the Bertrand Elevator Co., at Bertrand burned Sunday night. A sweeping north wind carried the flames to a store building immediately to the southeast of the gin and it was also destroyed. The store building was owned by a Mr. Schwab, the station agent.

The Sikeston High School basektball teams took two games from the weaker Chaffee High Red Devils on the latter's court Friday. The local girls led all the way but barely nosed out the rallying Chaffee team by one point as the final whistle ended the game at 34 to 33. The boys took a more satisfactory lead over their opponents and held it all the way to win out 29 to 18.

A reduction in the electric rates of the Missouri Utiilties Co., which would effect 27 Southeast Missouri towns has been placed before the Public Service Commission by the company. The reduction will effect the Sikeston users of the Utilities current, who have their residences wired with that company.

Claims practices review ordered

JEFFERSON CITY — Missouri Division of Insurance Supt. Edward G. Farmer Jr. announced today he has ordered a major review of the cancellation and claims practices of insurance companies writing accident and health coverage in Missouri.

Preliminary investigations have revealed that some insurance companies who issue guaranteed renewable policies have failed to mail renewal notices to policyholders who made claims, Farmer said.

In addition, claim benefit payments have been unduly delayed and, in some instances, denied with no basis for denial, he said.

Insurance practices of this nature are not acceptable in Missouri, Farmer said.

"The insurance division will continue to actively pursue consumer complaints and insurance practices not consistent with the public interest. Those companies and individuals in violation of Missouri statutes and regulations will be subject to panalties and disciplinary action," he said.

Dispute is more heated over Tietjen dismissal

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The dispute between the students and faculty of Concordia Seminary and Dr. Jacob A.O. Preus, president of the Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod, has become more heated as the seminary entered the eighth day of a virtual standstill.

The central figure in the dispute—the Rev. Dr. John H. Tietjen, ousted president of the seminary—was attacked by Dr. Preus Tuesday as a divisive factor "who has made meaningful dialogue and reconciliation impossible."

Students began a boycott of classes at the seminary Jan. 14 and were joined in the efforts by 46 of the 51 members of the school's teachers on Jan. 15 to protest the suspension of Dr. Tietjen by the board of control at the synodical school. Tietjen was charged with teaching false doctrine and malfeasance of offices.

In a letter to the faculty, Dr. Preus criticized Dr. Tietjen for using the media to air disputes within the church and for using "more of the name-calling at which he is so adept."

Dr. Preus also told the faculty that he refused to discuss the crisis which closed the seminary with any professor over the telephone," "lest I be taped without knowing it." He accused the faculty majority of trapping people into deals by tricking them with taped telephone conversations.

Meanwhile, there was increased speculation among all parties involved in the dispute that some action to resolve the crisis might be taken by the board of directors of the synod, who are scheduled to meet officially on Thursday.

A synod spokesman said the directors met informally Tuesday night, but that he did not know what was said about the split in the church's ranks—or even if it had been discussed.

The conflict, which some believe could cause an irreparable split in the synod, has also reached into the synod's headquarters. About 65 executive staff members met Monday night to discuss the situation and the possibility of asking Dr. Preus to resign, but spokesmen said no firm action was decided upon.

The conflict, although involving highly complex questions concerning church doctrine and alleged political maneuvers on the part of conservatives and moderates within the church, appears to have evolved to the point where battle lines have been drawn around Dr. Tietjen.

The seminary faculty and several members of the synod's executive staff have backed Dr. Tietjen and have stated that his reinstatement is a condition for any negotiation of differences.

Dr. Preus, on the other hand, has refused to intervene in the school control board's actions and has said he does not believe "it is in the cards" for the board to reverse its decision.

Kennett is victim of strange crimes

KENNETT, Mo. (AP)—Police in this Missouri Bootheel community had their hands full Tuesday trying to track down some peculiar criminals.

The latest incident in the rather unusual crime wave occurred Monday night when Police Capt. Lawrence Wake had his dirty underwear stolen.

Wake's wife, Sandra, left the laundry, bundled up in a brown paper bag, in her unlocked car while she was in the supermarket, police said, but when she returned, the package was gone.

"I mean all of it," Wake said in describing the thief's haul Tuesday, "my shorts, everything."

Over the weekend, thieves struck at the city dog pound and rescued six stray dogs scheduled to be destroyed Monday because no homes had been found for them.

Authorities said three sliding doors were knocked down to get to the dogs, which had been in the pound for about 10 days.

COOKING-UP

By MARY NOLEN

Recipes featured in this week's Cooking- Up column are a few of the favorites of Mrs. Thelma Bess, 408 Shady Lane.

Mrs. Bess is a secretary for attorney Weber Gilmore of the Gilmore, Gilmore and Gilmore law firm. She is a former secretary for Circuit Court Judge J. C. McDowell of Mississippi, Scott and Cape Girardeau counties and worked 10 years as a secretary for the Springfield Court of Appeals.

In 1968 she was chosen legal secretary of the year in Missouri.

She was married to the late Roy Bess and is the mother of two daughters, Mrs. Cathy Dockins and Mrs. Paula Gay Evans of Sikeston.

In her spare time Mrs. Bess likes to listen to music, play the organ, and do crewel and needle- point work.

Althought she didn't start cooking until after she was married, Mrs. Bess said the kitchen has always been a favorite part of her home.

ICE BOX ROLLS

Dissolve: 2 pkgs. of yeast in 1 cup of warm water
1 cup scalded milk
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cup shortening

After the mixture cools, add two eggs and approximately three cups of flour. Let rise for approximately two hours.

Add one teaspoon salt. Sift three cups of flour onto board. Roll dough out on flour and cut into rolls.

Melt one stick oleo and dip each round roll in oleo and fold over. Let rise in pan until double in size. Bake at 450 degrees until golden brown.

ANGEL FOOD DESSERT

1 medium size angel food cake (loaf)
1 can sweetened condensed milk
4 lemons, strained (use juice only)
1/2 cup of sugar
1 pt. whipping cream (whipped)

Slice cake in thin slices. Place half of the layers in 9x13 cake pan. Combine condensed milk, lemon juice and sugar and pour over cake slices. Place the other half of the cake slices over this and cover with balance of lemon mixture.

Pour one small can flaked coconut over the cake. Chill overnight or for several hours. Cut into squares. Makes 15 (5x3) slices of cake or 20 (5x4) slices.

BANANA PUDDING

2 cups sweet milk
1 cup sugar
3 tbsp. butter
3 eggs
1 tsp. vanilla
3 tbsp. flour

Cook in double boiler. After cooling, place layer of vanilla wafers, layer of bananas, then cover with pudding. Alternate same the second time. Whipped cream may be added to each serving.

APRICOT SHERBET

1 No. 2 can crushed pineapple (syrup too)
1/2 No. 2 can mashed pitted apricots (syrup too)
2 mashed bananas
2 lemons, juiced
1 small can frozen orange juice
2 cups sugar
1 half pt. whipping cream (unwhipped)

Combine all ingredients. Mix well and add enough milk to fill freezer to proper level. This will make either one gallon or 1 1/2 gallons, depending on the amount of milk added and size of freezer. Follow normal freezing procedure.

DIVINITY

2 1/2 cups of sugar
1/2 cup water
1/2 cup white syrup

Combine ingredients and place mixture over medium heat.

Have two egg whites well beaten in a large bowl. After mixture is cooked to a soft boil stage, pour about half of the mixture over egg whites, beating all the time.

Place mixture back on stove and cook until it forms a hard crack in cup cold water.

Beating constantly, pour over other mixture and add one teaspoon of vanilla.

When candy takes on a gloss and becomes very thick, add 3/4 cup broken pecans, if desired, and drop mixture by teaspoons onto waxed paper. Place half a pecan on each piece.

When candy is completely set, it will come up easily from waxed paper.

Readers,

Mrs. Jim Bishop of East Prairie, whose recipes ran last week, noticed two mistakes in last week's Cooking- Up column, So, she sent us the two recipes which were incorrectly reported.

Of the top 50 U.S. companies in sales or revenue in 1972, 10 were oil companies, according to New York Stock Exchange data. Computing profit as a percentage of sales or revenue reveals that 22 of these companies had a net profit of 5 per cent or more in 1972, of these eight were oil companies, The World Almanac notes.

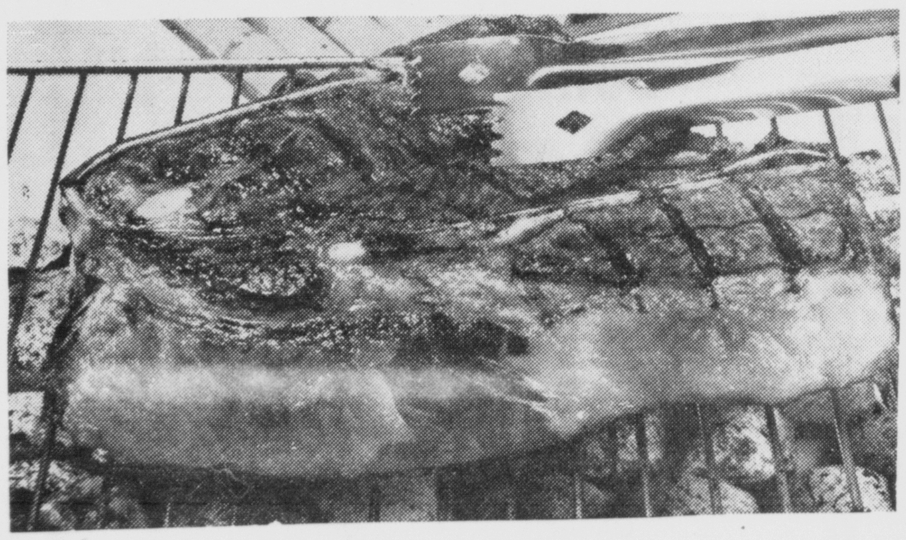
Charcoal broil that chuck roast



MEA[illegible] of chuck roast and treat it to meat Hawaiian style marinad[illegible]

HAWAIIAN CHARCOAL ROAST

5- to 7-pound chuck roast, about 2 1/2 inches thick
Unseasoned meat tenderizer
1/2 cup soy sauce
1/4 cup bourbon
3 tablespoons lime juice
3 tablespoons water
1 tablespoon salad oil
1 tablespoon plus 1 teaspoon brown sugar
1/2 teaspoon ginger
2 large cloves garlic, thinly sliced

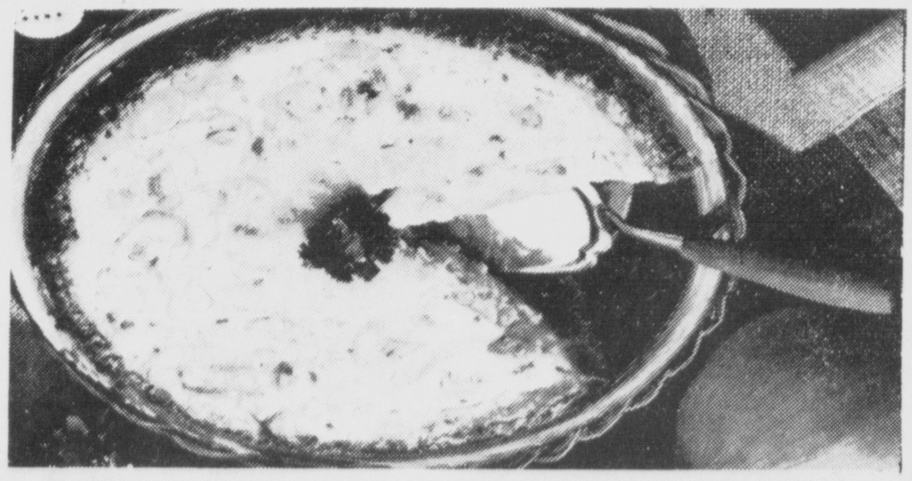
Trim excess fat from meat; score edges of meat as for steak to prevent curling. Sprinkle meat on all sides with about 3/4 to 1 1/2 teaspoons meat tenderizer. Let stand at room temperature for 1 hour.

For marinade, combine all remaining ingredients. Pour marinade over roast; turn roast and spoon some of marinade over top. Cover; marinate at room temperature for 4 to 5 hours. Turn every hour.

Remove meat from marinade; brush off garlic slices. Reserve about 1/2 cup of the marinade. Grill meat about 6 inches from medium hot coals for about 30 minutes to obtain a medium rare roast. Turn meat with tongs about every 7 to 8 minutes, brushing with reserved marinade after each turn. To test doneness, make a small cut near bone.

Remove roast from grill; slice thin, diagonally across the grain. Serve with natural juices.

Economical main dish tastes delicious



ONION CHEESE PIE

It's an economical and delicious choice for a main course

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

For a meatless supper an Onion Cheese Pie served with a crisp salad makes an excellent main course. For ending this meal, choose a hearty dessert. Or, if you like, you can serve soup as a first course and put fruit at the end of the menu.

The onion used in the pie is the Spanish variety that comes in large round size and has a crackly-thin golden-bronze skin. It is wonderfully sweet and adds distinctive flavor.

ONION CHEESE PIE

Cheese-flavor crackers
1/2 cup butter or margarine
Large Spanish onion
2 eggs
1 cup milk
1 teaspoon salt
1/8 teaspoon white pepper
1/2 teaspoon dried crushed Italian herb seasoning
3/4 cup coarsely grated sharp cheddar cheese

Finely crush enough of the crackers to make 1 3/4 cups crumbs. Melt 6 tablespoons of the butter and mix with the crumbs; press over bottom and sides of a 9-inch pie plate. Bake in a preheated 350-degree oven for 5 minutes. Cool.

Peel onion; cut in half lengthwise; slice thin; separate slices into half-rings — there should be 3 cups.

In a 10-inch skillet melt the remaining 2 tablespoons butter. Add onion and cook gently, stirring often, until soft and transparent; onion should look yellowed but not brown. Spread onion over bottom of pie shell.

In a small saucepan beat eggs slightly; add milk, salt, pepper and Italian seasoning and beat just enough to combine. Add cheese. Stir constantly over low heat until cheese melts — do not boil. Pour over onion.

Bake in a preheated 450-degree oven for 10 minutes. Reduce heat to 350 degrees and bake until filling is set — 15 to 20 minutes longer.

Makes 6 main-dish servings.
